Tiny Cancer Victim Gets An Early Xmas

(NEA Telephoto)

Little four-year-old Carolyn Robb sleeps peacefully in her crib surrounded by the toys she has received from kind-hearted strangers in all parts of the country. Carolyn is blissfully unaware that she is doomed to die in a few days, the victim of a brain cancer. Doctors say there is no cure for the little girl. Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Robb of Decatur, Ill.

Search for Slayer of Wife of Pastor Intensified Today

Blood-Stained Hunting Knife, Found Blocks Away, Only Clue

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—A blood-stained hunting knife, found nine blocks from where a minister's wife was stabbed to death in a south side parking lot yesterday, was examined for fingerprints and other clues today at the crime detection laboratory as police continued their search for the slayer.

The knife, having a six and a quarter inch blade, was in a leather sheath, the inside of which was blood-stained. It was found last night, more than 10 hours after Mrs. Gracelyn A. Bush, 32, had been fatally stabbed in the heart with a narrow-blade knife.

Meanwhile police detained for questioning Michael Weiner, 28, after he had been seized by detectives when they found him loitering in a north side parking lot and discovered blood on his suit coat.

Suspect Admits Robberies

Detective Sgt. Timothy O'Connell said that Weiner denied any connection with the slaying of Mrs. Bush, whose husband, the Rev. Francie Bush, is pastor of the South Side Seventh Day Adventist church. O'Connell said that Weiner told him he had committed 25 robberies in Chicago's Grant Park and about 75 in Milwaukee, where he formerly lived.

Mrs. Bush was attacked after she returned to the parking lot from the busy shopping center near 63rd and Halsted streets. Police said her assailant either was surprised prowling in her new car or had attempted to steal her purse.

Signs of Struggle

Capt. Patrick J. Collins said there were signs of a struggle in the car, indicating Mrs. Bush had fought until stabbed. After being stabbed she got out of the car and stumbled a few steps before she collapsed. She was still clutch-

U. S. Prepares a New Proposal on Balkans

Lake Success, Sept. 25—(AP)—The United States whipped a new Balkan proposal into shape for prompt United Nations action today with the evident purpose of seeking strong international reinforcement for the Truman doctrine in Greece.

The delegation under the leadership of Secretary of State Marshall was reported to have worked out already a tentative draft of a resolution by which the U. N. assembly would set up what some officials called a "fairly large" commission to maintain a constant watch on Greece's borders with Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

The whole subject was slated for action by the assembly's 55-nation political commission due to meet at 2 p. m. Central Daylight Time, with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt designated to assist American member Warren Austin in meeting strong Russian opposition.

"Fast" Time Comes to End Sunday A. M.

(By The Associated Press)

Residents of 133 Illinois communities who lost an hour's sleep last April 27 will gain it back Sunday when the clock hands again return to Central Standard from Daylight Saving Time.

Daylight Time went into effect in those communities at 2:01 a. m., and Standard Time will return at the same hour. The return will end a long-standing controversy between farmers, who prefer Standard Time, and urban dwellers, who like the extra hour of daylight. Differences of opinion led to local option elections in some communities.

Some of the larger cities which adopted Daylight Time were Alton, Aurora, Bloomington, Champaign, Chicago, Danville, Dixon, Freeport, Galesburg, Joliet, Kankakee, LaSalle, Lincoln, Normal, Ottawa, Peoria, Quincy, Rockford, Springfield and Waukegan.

Most of the Chicago suburbs operate on Daylight Time, as did railroad suburban schedules. Railroads, airlines, and business remained on Standard Time on through schedules.

New Soviet Attack on U. S., Britain

Lake Success, Sept. 25—(AP)—Russia charged today that the United States and Britain were violating the Potsdam agreement by opposing the admission of Soviet satellites to membership in the United Nations.

The new Soviet attack on the big western powers took place in the security council.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, sitting as council president for this month, declared he would not vote for Italy's admission unless the council also admitted Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

The United States and Britain supported Italy, but objected vigorously to admission of the Communist-dominated governments of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. They insisted that a separate vote be taken on each of the five ex-enemy states.

Polish Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski touched off the new big power fight by proposing formally that the council give blanket approval to all five ex-enemies.

Chinese Delicacies to Be Banned From Sale

Nanking, Sept. 25—(AP)—Birds' nests, sea slugs and sharks' fins may be on the way out of Chinese kitchens.

These delicacies, important in any Chinese banquet, head a list of items which the minister of economic affairs proposes to ban from sale after Jan. 1.

'Spiral Design'

London, Sept. 25—(AP)—British dress designers, warring upon Paris' long dresses, came up today with a "spiral design".

The guild of creative designers promised details later. Chairman Henry Scott said the spiral gives the impression of length but by no means shields a shapely calf from the public eye.

Some stylists said it ends about 14 inches from the ground.

NLRB Gives Unions Until Oct. 31st to Give Members Facts

Taft-Hartley Law Requires Revelation of Treasury Status

Washington, Sept. 25—(AP)—Labor unions will be given until Oct. 31 to certify to the National Labor Relations board that they have furnished members with financial statements required by the Taft-Hartley act.

The new deadline came to light today following a ruling by Robert N. Denham, NRLB general counsel, that unions which fail to fill out forms he will provide will lose their standing before the board.

This means any cases the unions have pending may be tossed out and they will be unable to file new ones.

The ruling already has resulted in temporary suspension of cases involving the big Machinists Union, which previously had satisfied Denham's first two requirements: (1) filing of a similar union financial statement with the labor department and (2) filing with the NRLB of affidavits by union officers that they are not communists and do not hold communist views.

October 31 also is the deadline for non-communist affidavits.

Union Is Independent

The Machinists Union, an organization independent of the AFL or CIO, won the first two union shop elections the NLRB has conducted under the Taft-Hartley law terms.

But it was discovered that the

Leaders in Defense Group Are Named

Washington, Sept. 25—(AP)—President Truman today completed the top leadership of the new national defense organization by naming Dr. Vannevar Bush, noted scientist, as chairman of the research and development board.

He also filled positions in the new department of air with these appointments:

Arthur S. Barrows, Chicago, Ill., to be undersecretary of the department which is headed by Secretary W. Stuart Symington.

Eugene M. Zuckert and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney to be assistant secretary of war for air. Whitney, an officer in both world wars, is president of a lumbering company in northern New York state and head of livestock properties in New York and Kentucky.

Gen. Carl Spaatz was appointed chief of staff for the air department. He has been chief of the Army air force.

The board which Dr Bush will head is designed to keep America in the forefront of scientific developments and in obtaining new weapons.

Bush, one of the masterminds in the development of the atom bomb, now heads the temporary research and development board set up last year by the Army and Navy as a joint organization. He also is president of Carnegie Institution, scientific research organization, and a member of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

He is 57 and a resident of South Dennis, Mass.

Mrs. Earl Fruin of Grand Detour Takes Her Life This Morn

Despondency Over Condition of Health is Held Back of Deed

Mrs. Earl Fruin, 46, suicided today about 10:30 a. m. when she went to the garage at the Thomas Fruin home on the Dodd estate in Grand Detour and hanged herself to a rafter. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fruin missed her from the house about that hour and upon instituting a search, discovered her body hanging in the garage.

Sheriff Joseph Mass of Oregon was summoned and a physician from Dixon hurried to the Fruin home where upon examination of the body, it was found that life was extinct. Relatives of the woman stated that she had been despondent over the condition of her health during the past two weeks, and her actions were being closely observed.

Inquest This Afternoon

She went upstairs at the Fruin home about 10:15 this morning and apparently unlocked a door and descended to the garage where she used a step ladder to reach a rafter, using a clothes line to form a double noose which she placed about her neck, then stepped off the ladder.

The body was removed to the Farrell funeral home in Oregon where an inquest was scheduled to be conducted this afternoon at 2:30. The funeral announcement will be made following the arrival of her husband from Chicago late this afternoon.

Princeton to Hear Top Political Chiefs

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 25—(AP)—Professor Kenneth Hechler and his 55 Princeton students in political science planned a new telephone hunt today for the nation's politicians. Equipped with a public address system connected to long distance lines, Professor Heckler said he wanted to talk to some of the nation's political leaders and let his class listen in on the comments.

Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee, and James Farley, former Democratic party chairman, found themselves on two ends of a three-way telephone conversation in the first of the new-type classroom discussions yesterday.

Profesor Hechler said he next wanted to question U. S. Senators Robert A. Taft on labor and Arthur H. Vandenberg on foreign affairs.

Egyptian University Honors U. I. Teacher

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 25—(AP)—The American University at Cairo, Egypt, Saturday will present to the University of Illinois a citation in recognition of services rendered by Prof. Fred C. Hood, assistant high school visitor at Illinois.

Prof. Hood was at the Egyptian institution in 1946-47 as an exchange professor. He contributed services to the faculty of education and acted as adviser to some departments in the Egyptian ministry of education.

The citation, hand-lettered in Arabic, will be presented to President George D. Stoddard, by Harlan Conn, bursar of the American University, who will represent President John S. Badeau.

Save Food Is Plea of President Made to American People

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—President Truman asked Americans today to save food for Europe's hungry and said he still hopes emergency aid can be met without a special session of congress.

In a news conference, Truman left open, however, the possibility that the legislators may be summoned into an emergency session. That is a question to be explored at a conference he will have Monday with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders.

Asked whether he thinks a return of rationing and price controls might be necessary, he replied that those are matters for congress to decide.

In appealing for food conservation, the president observed that it would help budgets of American families as well as providing food to combat hunger in Europe.

His 20-minute talk with reporters ranged over a wide field of the problems involved in helping Europe get through the winter and back on its feet, economically speaking.

Truman said:

1. A decision on a special session of congress for emergency aid for Europe will flow from a meeting he has scheduled Monday with congressional leaders of both parties. He hopes a special session can be avoided and has an open mind on the subject.

Plans Study Before Action

2. On the long-range Marshall plan for helping European countries which help themselves and each other, careful study will precede any action and the government will move cautiously.

3. A special committee of citizens has been named to consider the immediate food problem and advise "on ways and means of carrying out the necessary conservation effort."

4. Other committees have been assigned the responsibility of studying the report drawn up by 16 nations in Paris, outlining their needs under the Marshall plan.

Truman refrained from terming as voluntary rationing his immediate plan to save food. Repeatedly, he said, it calls for saving food, for not wasting food.

He said he has been advised that Americans waste the equivalent of

Blame Pet Parrot for Woman's Death

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 25—(AP)—Her pet parrot who turned on a kitchen stove gas jet was blamed today for the death of 66-year-old Mrs. Fannie Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart, a widow, was revived by police rescue squad workers but died later at the Jersey City Medical Center of what hospital authorities said was cerebral thrombosis.

She had told rescue workers that her parrot, Dolly, flew about her Beacon avenue home at will and had turned on the gas jets once before when it alighted on the kitchen stove. Mrs. Stewart, however, said she had discovered the escaping gas before any damage was done that first time.

Neighbors who detected gas seeping from Mrs. Stewart's home summoned the rescue squad yesterday. Police found the woman unconscious on the kitchen floor.

She was revived after half an hour of artificial respiration and taken to the Medical Center for what was intended as a routine check. She succumbed three hours later of the cerebral stroke.

Fellow Travelers Will Be Those Leaving Washington After Coming Year, Mrs. Martha Taft Declares

Seattle, Sept. 25—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) chose the middle of the road on foreign policy questions today as he carried to Tacoma a Republican vote-seeking campaign enlivened by his wife's lampooning speech against the Democratic administration and labor leaders.

The Ohio senator was prepared to resume the center of the stage with an important foreign affairs address in Tacoma tonight after bowing gracefully out of the Seattle spotlight in favor of Mrs. Martha Taft, who provided the oratorical fireworks of the day.

The senator mentioned the foreign aid issue briefly in a speech to the Seattle Bar Association last night, commenting that additional aid to slow-recovering Europe may have to be continued for "possibly three years."

But while Taft discussed this and other issues, Mrs. Taft unwittingly stole the show with a crackling speech before a Women's Republican Club meeting in which she urged members to work for President Truman's defeat in the 1948 election.

Contending that the Republican-controlled congress had been hampered in its efforts to enact legislation by the president, Mrs. Taft said Truman's "contract" to stay in the White House runs out next year.

Charging that the administration had permitted "fellow travelers" to occupy high posts, had encouraged "government "meddling" in people's affairs and had allowed "labor leaders to push the people around," Mrs. Taft declared:

"Mr. Truman's contract comes to an end next year and after that time I promise you that a fellow traveler will mean a fellow traveling away from Washington."

She defended the Taft-Hartley Act, enacted over the president's veto with the sponsorship of her husband, as a "character" under which she said working people "cannot be pushed around by labor bosses and by communists."

Lee Board of Review Closes Its Tax Books After Long Session

Work Includes Complete Check on 2 Townships in Lee County

The Lee county Board of Review today closed the tax books for 1947 after an arduous 83-day session, one of the longest on record here.

The board marked the end of its work today with a report which showed it handled 105 complaints from individual taxpayers during the session, which opened June 2, and had 374 cases before it in which changes were made, an average of more than four per day.

That 83-day period included a two-weeks jaunt through two individual townships where assessments were low and unequal on improvements and where the board viewed and revalued each set of improvements. Board members declined to name the townships.

Elmer Miller, China township, chairman of the board of supervisors and ex-officio chairman of the board of review, said this morning that another reason for the lengthy session this year was the necessity of making a revaluation of real estate in the quadrennial year and the need of returning GROP land returned to private ownership back on tax lists, as well as taking the Latta and Hanson farm lands sold to the state for addition to the state game refuge off tax lists.

Cites Inequalities

In discussing the check through two townships, Miller said: "We viewed each set of improvements and revalued all of the improvements in those two townships.

"To show the inequality in assessing in them, there wasn't a day that we were viewing property that we didn't find an assessment on buildings that had been removed, and there wasn't a day we didn't find a set of buildings that were not assessed at all.

"The board has acted as fairly and impartially as was possible," he added.

"The board feels also that there are still many inequalities, but we have used up practically all of our extension time, and it is necessary we close and balance the books for the year."

Slain Dice Girl's Husband Released

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—Chicago police today released the husband of a 19-year-old saloon dice girl and awaited word from Michigan authorities before proceeding with investigation of the young woman's mysterious death.

Capt. Philip Breitzke of the detective bureau said the Chicago end of the inquiry into the death of Mrs. Catherine Tina Jacobs was "marking time until we hear from the Berrien county (Mich.) authorities on whether the girl was murdered or died a natural death."

Her body was found near Benton Harbor, Mich., ten days after her dissappearance from Chicago Sept. 8. Her husband, Marshall "Moizie" Jacobs, 21-year-old bartender, was questioned about the mystery and Breitzke said:

"Jacobs has indicated his willingness to cooperate with us right from the start and will be available at any time we want further information.

Await Coroner's Verdict

"But there's not much we can do until we hear from the coroner's jury" which is investigating in Michigan.

No charge was placed against Jacobs. An autopsy on Mrs. Jacobs' body was being conducted in Lansing, Mich.

Lt. Leroy Steffens of the homicide squad said there was a possibility Mrs. Jacobs had died from an overdose of benzedrine. He said Jacobs and her former husband, Thomas Angelo, 30, both said she frequently took the drug to fight off sleep because "she always wanted to be on the go."

"Until we establish there has been a murder committed, we can do nothing," Steffens said. "We cannot make any arrests. A prisoner would be free on a writ of habeas corpus in five minutes."

Army Says 3,000 Yanks Would Marry Germans

Frankfurt, Sept. 25—(AP)—More than 3,000 Americans have applied for permission to marry German girls since the ban on such weddings was lifted last December, U. S. army headquarters said today.

Approval has been given to 1,592 of the applications and at least 1,255 of the couples already have been married.

Applications are still pouring in

Occupants of High Government Posts to Eisler's Cause

Washington, Sept. 25—(AP)—George S. Messersmith, then assistant secretary of state, acknowledged today that he wrote the American consul general at Havana in 1939 urging prompt and personal consideration of Hanns Eisler's application for a visa to reside in the United States.

Testifying before the house committee on un-American activities, Messersmith also said he sent the consul general a copy of a letter that Sumner Welles, then undersecretary of state, had written Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt who had expressed interest in Eicler's case.

The committee is investigating the question whether high government officials have knowingly permitted communists to come to this country in violation of immigration laws.

Eisler, now a Hollywood song writer, testified yesterday that he joined the communist party in his native Germany in 1926, but declared he was never active and is not now a communist.

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator, said the committee will prove that Eisler was allowed to remain in the United States because of "pressure from above," and Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) told newsmen the hearings will show laxity on the part of both the state department and the immigration and naturalization service.

Special Board Overruled

Eisler, 54-year-old self-styled "free lance artist," entered this country for residence from Mexico in 1940 after having been in and out several times previously.

Stripling told the committee yesterday the musician was allowed to enter and remain despite a labor department finding that he was a communist and after a special board had recommanded against his admission. The special board was overruled by a board of appeals in Washington, and a then pending deportation warrant for Eisler was cancelled.

The committee is seeking to learn why Eisler has been allowed to stay here. Stripling said it may recommend that he be prose-

TODAY'S WEATHER STORY

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy rains fell in the southeastern section of the country as the tropical storm, diminishing in intensity, moved northeastward across the Carolinas today, as sections in the midwest reported frost and temperatures in the 20's.

The storm in the eastern coast lost most of its force as winds calmed, but many Carolina and Virginia cities reported abnormally heavy rainfall.

Minnesota and Wisconsin were the coolest spots on the country's weather map this morning, with frost reported in some areas. The mass of cool air extended into northern Illinois and northern Indiana and federal forecasters said it would spread across the Ohio river valley. The morning's low was 15 at Land o'Lakes, Wis.

Clear weather, with temperatures in the high 80's and 90's were reported in the southwest and Pacific coast states yesterday and more of the same was predicted today.

Verdict for Donoho in Amount of $5,000 Will be Carried Up

J. E. Harrison's Attorney Announced Decision to Appeal; Court News

Attorney R. L. Bracken indicated this morning that he would appeal a Lee county Circuit court jury's award of $5,000 damages from J. E. Harrison to Everett Donoho for the death of his daughter, Shirley Mae Donoho, in an automobile accident on White Pines road north of Lowell park May 11, 1945.

The jury, after deliberating approximately six hours, acquitted Gerald and Margaret Reynolds of any responsibility for the accident which occurred when cars driven by Reynolds and Harrison collided. Robert Besse, Sterling, represented Donoho. Bracken represented Harrison, and Warner & Warner represented the Reynolds.

Meanwhile, an out-of-court settlement this morning brought an abrupt end to the $10,000 damage suit of the Bos Trucking Lines, Inc., Marshalltown, Iowa, against William Doak, Compton, just as the jury prepared to listen to closing arguments in the case, the outgrowth of a collision at the intersection of the Lee Center road and route 30, Aug. 1, 1946.

Judgment Suit Starts

The jury hearing the case included: Raymond Clayton, China; Laola A. Drew, Dixon; Lelia Mae Bush, Dixon; Jessie Carlson, Palmyra; Olive E. Lafferty, Dixon; Dale F. Senneff, Dixon; Maude Mahen, Dixon; George Miller, Jr., Dixon; Floyd Bothe, Bradford; Myrna Marie Baker, South Dixon, and Dale O. Davison, Willow Creek. The truckers were represented by Warner & Warner and Ward & Ward, Doak by Bracken and J. C. Ryan.

Immediately after the Bos-Doak suit settlement, a jury was completed to hear the judgment suit of Ralph Cleveland against Henry Macklin, growing out of the sale by Cleveland of a hammer mill, speed jack and belt to Macklin. Albert N. Kennedy represents Cleveland. Thomas J. O'Malley, Jr., Rochelle, represents Macklin.

The jury to hear the case consisted of: Maude Mahen, Olive E. Lafferty, Dale F. Senneff, Claude Currens and Elsie Levan, all of Dixon; Fred Nicholson, Lee Center; Myrna Marie Baker, South Dixon; Dale Reuter, East Grove; William Clark, China; Charles R. Archer, Brooklyn, and Lelia Mae Bush, Dixon.

To Test Patch's Sanity

Earlier this morning Judge Geo. C. Dixon set a jury trial for Charles W. Patch, 40, state hospital attendant held on a morals charge, to determine if he is a criminal sexual psychopathic for 1:30 p. m. Monday when Patch appeared in court to be furnished with a copy of a report by psychiatrists who examined him Sept. 17.

In another court development here today, Judge Harry E. Wheat, Freeport, decided a drainage dispute between Harry Barnes and Nathan N. Gilbert in favor of Barnes, awarding $175 crop damages to him and granting an injunction prohibiting interference with flow of water over a natural

Two Men Die When Derelict Car Burns

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—The bodies of two men burned almost beyond recognition were taken from a derelict automobile early today shortly after it was destroyed by fire.

Police said the men probably were habitues of the "skidrow" section of Chicago's near west side where the fire occurred.

The officers said a bartender in the vicinity, who discovered the blaze reported he had noticed that broken windows of the sedan had been patched with newspapers, indicating that the car was providing some shelter for occupants from the chill night air.

The car frequently had been used for night-time shelter, the bartender said.

Young Victim of Snake Bite May Lose Her Arm

Harlan, Ky., Sept. 25—(AP)—Faye Nolan, 12-year-old victim of a snakebite during religious rites of a snake-handling cult, was reported to be improving today at her home in nearby Cawood.

Dr. S. L. Andelman, Harlan county health officer, who has been allowed by Mrs. Flora Nolan, the child's mother, to examine but not to treat the wound, said the girl's temperature, pulse and heart action were normal.

He predicted the girl might live but that she probably would lose her hand and possibly her arm. The snakebite occurred Sunday at services by the "faith healers."

Dixonite Writes of Scenes, People on Her Trip to Hawaii

Telegraph Publisher, in Letter, Describes Tropic Beauty

Mabel S. Shaw, publisher of the Evening Telegraph, who has been on an extended trip to the Hawaiian Islands by air and to Alaska by boat has written her family in Dixon some interesting letters, descriptive of the places she has visited and some of them will be published in these columns. Another of the letters follows:

Dear Family:

I write one letter to you all — I don't seem to find a minute to write individually.

We left Kona Inn very early this A. M. for Hilo (pronounced Heelow) which was 110 miles over mountain roads. It was a colorful ride, something gay and beautiful to look at whichever way we turned. There were great tall African tulip trees, perhaps 75 feet tall, heavy with flame colored tulips. How we all would love such a tree. Then there's the Lacindia, which has a gorgeous purpe flower, buds are pink before they open. Again we pass hedges of the cup of gold. Other hedges are of fueshias, sometimes 8 to 10 feet high. They are very lovely, as are the night blooming cerius. The latter is abundant and has marvelous great flowers.

En route we passed through sections of the Parker Ranch of 500.000 acres. It is a cattle ranch with 35,000 cattle at the time being. They furnish beef to the various islands. Richard Smart, the movie actor, is a grandson of the Parkers and the owner.

We lunched at the Hilo Hotel. Then we went to Senator Hill's home where we visited his great green houses. In one were thousands of anthuriam like the flowers Mrs. Ho sent you. They were a glorious sight. I tell you. We later went to Mr. Hill's orchid green house and oh such beauty. We were given orchids, in fact we've been dripping with orchids most of the time since we arrived on the Islands. The transportation company presented us with leis and orchids also, wasn't that nice? Directly after this we took the plane. It was 1½ hours' ride to Honolulu. I was simply entranced by the view of the country from the plane. Such green fields, the mountains, the ravines, the rivers, the waterfalls, the flowers, the houses and the blue ocean made an impressive picture.

We got back to the Royal Hawaiian, dressed for dinner. We have the grandest food I've ever known (Harold Masten excepted). Every meal is indeed a function and we are all gaining — I fear too much. These good things we just — cannot resist. You have all been wonderful about writing — every single one of you. It was so nice of Arnold to write. Also had lovely letters from Vivian Ide, George and Florence Barnes, Marian Murray and Doris Schuler. Yesterday I got six, the same number the day before.

Grace Warren gives a breakfast Sunday — four of us and other friends from Honolulu.

Will say good night as it is late and I am sleepy. Have to get up early.

Mother

At Hickam Field, Hawaii.

My Dear Family:

What a day—what a day this has been. I will remember it long—perhaps always. We visited Pearl Harbor, saw the spot where the doomed destroyers lay, saw the spot where had rested the Lexington. Mrs. Beede's relative was on this battleship, but escaped. I believe some Dixon boys were on the ship.

Had a good view of Ford Island and visited the harbor where anchored were 10 submarines—but listen to the highlight of the afternoon—Dr. Watson, Myrtle, Jane Peterson, Mrs. Innis and myself descended the ladder of one of the subs at the invitation of Ensign Albert William Sieloffe. The rest of the party did not descend. It was some feat to enter the hole and swing yourself into position to enter the sub, which by name is U. S. S. Sea Dog (55401). The Sea Dog is 312 feet long. The very delightful ensign took us from one end to the other. We climbed through difficult places by putting one foot through at a time and by hanging on to iron rods. It was so intensely interesting. We saw the big torpedoes and were shown how they were removed from their regular place and placed in a great brass cylinder, the by compressed air shot off, going a distance of 3 miles. Room by room we visited. You can't imagine all the mechanical devices, wires, switchboards. All looked so complicated and so powerful. We saw the officers' quarters — a tiny, tiny room. Seventy odd men man the Sea Dog. We saw some of the men sleeping in their bunks. Went to the kitchen, saw food being prepared. Five boys were playing cards on the crew's dining table. 225 meals per day are served on this sub. They have excellent food. It was nice and cool. The men can stay down below for 24 hours without feeling ill effects. The men all seemed quite young. Saw a great tower — it must have been between 3 and 5 hundred feet high. At different levels the boys enter the tank which is filled with water. It is called an escaping tank. Here your lungs are tested. The ensign said one boy he knew was taking the test for submarine service and one lung burst and he died. In August the Sea Dog goes to California to be reconditioned, then they will leave for China. They carry a 3 months' supply of food, have great tanks for water which is double distilled. They use the salt water and much is needed for the sub and the men also. Before leaving Ensign Sieloff served us with coffee in the officers dining room. It was all so interesting — so unusual. I did enjoy it. Much of the time the Sea Dog is under water 400 feet. Each sub is named for a fish.

Oh yes, going back to Pearl Harbor. We saw the battleship "Iowa" at Pearl Harbor. It is immense, perfectly huge. Governor Blue of Iowa came in on it with the other governors. Gov. Warren and Gov. Blue are the only ones I know. They are all at the Royal Hawaiian.

At Amboy

Mrs. A. E. Seymour of Virden, president of the Illinois American Legion Auxiliary will be the principal speaker at a "Caravan" meeting of the department at the Farm Bureau auditorium at Amboy at 10 a. m., Sept. 30.

She and several state committee chairmen will outline the work to be accomplished this year by the 70,000 Illinois members in the 795 units. Illinois is next to the largest Department in the national organization, which numbers 1,000.000 members.

Traveling with Mrs. Seymour by automobile to the 16 meetings in the state which are being held from Sept. 23 to Oct. 14 are Mrs. Walter J. Hoffman, Park Ridge; Mrs. Joseph C. Morris and Mrs. Howard R. Peterson, Chicago; Mrs. Frank O. Hanson, Bloomington; and Mrs. Russell W. Carter, Decatur.

These leaders will address the members of the 13th district on the Auxiliary's work in rehabilitation, Americanism, community service, child welfare, publicity, radio, Girls State, membership, the Veterans' Craft Exchange in Chicago, Pan American study, the annual poppy sale, education of orphans of veterans and training of volunteer hospital workers.

Also speaking at the meeting will be Mrs. Roy G. Long, district director, and Mrs. Clara Westfall, Legislative chairman of the Department of Illinois.

The Amboy unit will serve as hostess for the meeting with Mrs. Gordon Lovett, unit president, in charge.

St. Louis is Forced To Curtail Services

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, in a move to offset a predicted deficit of $4,750,000 for this fiscal year, ordered yesterday a cut of about 15 per cent in the city's budget by reducing the number of city employes, curtailing services and cancelling orders for new equipment.

The economy program was announced by the mayor after an all-day conference with the heads of major city departments. "It is only fair to point out these savings must inevitably result in the curtailment of some of the services to which our citizens have been accustomed," Kaufmann said.

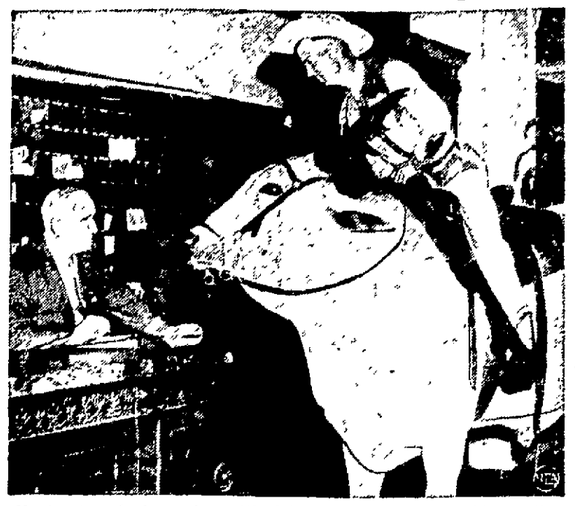

The mayor said he was unable to estimate how many of the city's 8,500 civil service employes would be released as a result of the program.

He added that each city department would be expected to cut its expenses in proportion to its allotment out of the total of $32,800,000 apportioned by the board of aldermen for the fiscal year which began last April 10.

TOKYO FLOOD TOLL

Tokyo, Sept. 25—(AP)—The toll taken by foldwaters which still cover much of the great Kanto plain north of Tokyo was placed at 1,002 dead, 1,161 injured and 985 missing today by allied headquarters' public health and welfare section.

Wants Room With Running Hay

You've heard about the cattle lobby? Well, this is lobby cattle. Jack Andrews, astride Henry, his 1800-pound trained Brahma bull, checks in at a Philadelphia hotel. Room clerk Robert McSorley, left, takes the whole thing in his stride.

Finds Stepfather He Never Met Before Dead

Winslow, Me., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Anthony Robinson discovered the battered body of his stepfather, whom he had never seen before, on a highway here yesterday.

Robinson was unaware of the man's identity until he heard his name—Rexford Thompson, 35, of Bingham, a Canadian World War II veteran. Thompson married Robinson's mother after Robinson had left home and the men had never met.

Thompson apparently was struck by an automobile Tuesday night while riding a motor bicycle.

TO REPORT TO MARSHALL

Moscow, Sept. 25—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith is planning to go to Washington early next month to report to Secretary of State Marshall and other officials, it was learned today.

U. S. mining operations use about 260 million cubic feet of timber annually.

About 26,400 miles of 295 U. S. rivers are navigable.

Sees Improved Moving of Petroleum in 1948

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of directors of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) said today that barring unexpected developments, petroleum "transportation facilities into the midwest should become adequate by the latter part of next year."

At a luncheon meeting of midwest oil men, Wilson said that the industry is "still faced with the problem of the fuel oil supply for this winter, particularly in the middle west," but added that favorable factors pointed to a less acute situation this year than last.

He said purchases of fuel oil during the summer months by home owners and business concerns have left consumers' tanks "better filled than ever before in our history at this time of year." He added industry stocks of fuel oils, while only 95 per cent of last year's, "have been building up at a good rate during recent weeks."

The United States uses about half the timber harvested in the world.

Olney Officer Named To Munich Army Post

Frankfurt, Sept. 25—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Edmund B. Sebree was named today as the new commanding officer of the Second U. S. Constabulary brigade with headquarters at Munich. He succeeds Brig. Gen. Hobart Gay.

Sebree, of Olney, was recently U. S. military attache in Australia. During the war he commanded divisions both in the Pacific and European theaters.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

FBI Gives Tips on War on Burglars; Be Cautious, Calm

Burglaries on Increase In Both Rural and Urban Areas

By MAX HALL

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Burglars are busier and busier. Your house may be next. What can you do to prevent it? What should you do if you hear a burglar in the house?

The other day the FBI reported 147,916 burglaries in the first six months of 1947.

Compared with the same period of last year, this was a 17 per cent increase in rural areas and a 2 per cent increase in cities and towns.

So I went to the FBI and asked what the ordinary citizen can do.

The FBI officials want it understood that no ironclad rules can be laid down that will apply to all situations. But they agreed to prepare some "general suggestions." Here's what they suggested:

Steps in Prevention

First—How to help prevent a burglary during the night when the family is at home:

1. Lock every outside door. (This may seem obvious, but in rural sections, where burglaries are increasing fastest, it's still common practice not to lock doors.)

2. Latch all ground-floor windows at night. If the weather won't permit this, the screens at least should be snugly fastened.

3. "All particularly vulnerable areas of a dwelling might well be kept illuminated at night." For example, a dark rear door or cellar entrance. "Few burglars will try to sneak through a lighted doorway or window."

4. Members of the family should pay close attention to individuals loitering in the neighborhood, and unknown persons calling at the door should be asked to identify themselves fully.

Leave Light Burning

This is because "most cases are 'cased' before they are burglarized. The burglar needs advance information about the room arrangement, the number of menfolk, the valuables, the dog.

Next, some suggestions for the early evening hours, when the family is temporarily away:

Leave a light burning in the house; don't pull down window shades; don't leave notes telling when you will return; don't leave your key in the conventional front porch hiding placess.

Now, suppose you actually see or hear a burglar.

The FBI said personal safety should be kept in mind above everything else.

"You should presume that every burglar is armed and dangerous," the FBI said.

"They are cowardly and nervous, and many of them who may not be killers in the strict sense of the word will kill in a frenzy of fear if suddenly surprised."

Observe the Burglar

(A week ago here in Washington a 62-year-old woman saw a prowler in her back yard, got a pistol, went to the door and said, "Stand still or I'll shoot." The prowler shot and killed her.)

The FBI said if a burglar is trying to break in, "the best of all possible things to do is to get the police there before the burglar knows he has been discovered."

If this is impossible, the next best thing—if it can be done "without risking your personal safety"—is to observe the burglar and note his clothing, physical characteristics, and which way he goes when he leaves.

The FBI said those suggestions also apply if the burglar is already in the house, but here "the situation is far more precarious for the family," and "a wrong move may cost a life."

Be Careful and Calm

If you can get to the telephone without the burglar knowing it, by all means do it.

If you are confronted by the burglar, "keep as calm as possible and do as he instructs; your life and that of your family are more valuable than your property."

Fix the burglar's description "indelibly in your mind." After he's gone, leave everything in the house "exactly as the burglar left it."

If you should return home after an absence and find that a burglar has been there, "do not make an amateurish crime scene search yourself." Don't touch anything. Let the police do all the searching. Don't let anyone walk in the yard because there may be footprints.

The FBI suggests that you not tell the neighbors about the burglary until the police have questioned them about suspicious persons in the neighborhood.

This is because the police will be "far more likely to get helpful and reliable information if they get to the neighbors before a hum of excitement has begun."

REBUILD OWN SCHOOL

Berlin — (AP) — All able-bodied youths who apply to study at the technical high school at Stuttgart, in the U. S. occupation zone, are required to undertake six months of reconstruction work to help clean up their damaged school before they are admitted.

Much removal of debris has thus been effected and the school's main building—composed of 16 classrooms, laboratories and a large auditorium—has been completely restored.

Veteran Reporter Marks 40th Year With Same Paper

Jacksonville, Ill.—(AP)—For 21 years Jacksonville folk who passed by the Journal office stopped at the window to wave to a small, wiry telegrapher bent over his machine.

Walter De Shara, now 61, took one hand from his typewriter long enough to wave back.

But he seldom made a mistake as he transmitted the Associated Press news from the Morse code machine to his typewriter.

Started in 1907

Today Walt, his hair an iron grey but his newspaper spirit still spry, celebrates his 40th year with the Journal. He started on Sept. 24, 1907.

When installation of automatic teletypes at the paper in 1928 eliminated his job, Walt turned to police reporting.

In the way of small-town newspaper men, he made himself useful in many jobs. He served as telegraph editor, took subscriptions, read proof, ran the switchboard and wrote headlines.

Radio Reporter Now

Then, as circulation manager, he gathered the newsboys in the press room, doled out their papers, patted them on the head and counted their pennies when they returned.

At present his main job is to write and deliver news of Jacksonville and Morgan county each day over the local radio station. He broadcasts directly from the Journal's news room.

But when a big story breaks and the Journal needs the seasoned experience of a veteran, Walt goes back on the street. The fact that his tiny figure has been familiar around the county court house, the police station and the town square for 40 years pays off in news.

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(AP)—The churchgoing, smoking, Divorcing, nightclubbing and other habits of Hollywood citizens have been polled and the results indicate that the town is a fairly tame place. Or so the figures say.

The quizzing was done by the Hollywood Reporter and of the 1,056 of the trade paper's readers who answered, 70 per cent are in show business. Eighty-five per cent are males. The full results will be published in a book imposingly titled "Facts About Hollywood, U. S. A. Information to the Nation". Here is a preview:

The divorce mill has claimed 29.7 per cent of the quizees, whereas the Reporter quotes the national average (bureau of census report) at 10 per cent. Seventy-seven per cent of the readers are married and 42 per cent have two children.

Democrats claim a majority of those polled, polling a total of 56.4 per cent. The G. O. P. draws 43.2 and the remaining 0.4 is spread among other parties, presumably Communists, Prohibitionist, Bull Moose, etc.

Hollywood firmly believes the rest of the U. S. has the wrong impression of Hollywood. At least that's what 85 per cent indicated on the poll. Thirty per cent don't use tobacco and 14.5 guzzle no liquor. Forty-two per cent visit a night club but once a month.

It may surprise you to learn what the favorite hobby is. It's reading. And photography ranks second. Twenty-nine individuals possess yachts and 83 own television sets. A mere 10 per cent, and this should upset legend, have swimming pools in their back yards.

Hollywood dresses well, says the survey. Eighty-one per cent of the boys have some of their clothes custom-made and 45.5 per cent own five to nine suits. Fourteen gents replied they have over 40 suits!

Hollywood is a land of immigrants, only 8.5 reporting they previously lived on the Pacific coast. The largest percentage, 32.7, came from the Middle Atlantic states, and only 6.4 came from outside the U. S.

And look at the educational figures—35.5 per cent were graduated from college, 36.1 more attended college and 13.9 got past high school graduation. Of course it could be that they're the ones who like to fill out polls.

The loss of Harry Carey will be deeply felt around Hollywood. He and his wife, who was always with him, were familiar and friendly figures on movie sets. Once he told me his secret of success as an actor: "Always say a line with your eyes before you say it with your mouth".

Local Elks Await District Conference Saturday, Sunday

Several officers and members of Dixon lodge of Elks will attend a meeting of the northwest district to be held Saturday and Sunday at Freeport. Over 5,000 Elks of the district are expected to be represented at the fall conference.

The fall round-up banquet to be attended by Elks and their ladies will be held Saturday evening at the Freeport Country club. The speakers will be Attorney Henry C. Warner of Dixon and Attorney Floyd E. Thompson of Rock Island, both of whom are Past Grand Exalted Rulers of the organization.

Edward B. Edwards of Rock Island, vice-president of the Illinois northwest district, will be in charge of the conference and master of ceremonies at the banquet. Also in attendance will be Floyd B. Cheney of Danville, vice president-at-large of the Illinois Elks association, and many others prominent in the lodge circles. On Sunday morning there will be a general meeting of the delegates at the Elks club in charge of Victor M. Eichler of Dixon, district deputy of the northwest district, followed by a dinner at the club house at noon. An officers conference will conclude the program in the afternoon. Lodges represented at the conference will be from the following cities: Freeport, Rockford, Mendota, Galena, Rock Island, Moline, Dixon, Sterling, DeKalb and Sycamore.

Hartley Wants Ban on All Mass Picketing

Indianapolis, Sept. 25—(AP)—Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr., (R-NJ) co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law, says he plans to hold hearings early next year for the purposes of strengthening the law's provisions against mass picketing.

"It ought to be a federal offense to keep a man from his job," Hartley said last night in addressing an institute sponsored by the Indiana and Indianapolis chambers of commerce.

"If any changes in the law are made—and I believe few will be made in the next congress—they should further safeguard the right to work," the chairman of the house labor committee added.

It puts a 1947 thrill under your hood

See what this brand-new Fireball engine can do for Buicks built in the past ten years

YOU see here a hood-filling straight-eight power plant exactly like those which put an eager rush of Fireball energy at the command of folks who own 1947 Buicks.

But you don't have to be the owner of a 1947 Buick to boss this husky package of concentrated power around!

You don't have to wonder, "How about delivery?"

If you hanker for the thrill of having, beneath your toe, the surging power of a new Fireball engine, we're in a position to talk business right now.

How come? The answer is simple:

Out in the Buick factories, engine production is forging ahead — engines are coming off the line faster than bodies or other parts needed to build complete automobiles.

All of which means we can give you prompt delivery on 1947 power plants — brand-new, straight-from-the-factory Buick engines, ready to repower any Buick built in the past ten years.

If you own a Buick built between 1937 and 1942, the whole thing boils down to this:

We lift out the old engine — put in a new one — and send you on your happy way in less time than it would take for an overhaul.

That's why we say, buying one of these engines is the next best thing to getting a new Buick — and when you do get a new one, you'll have a better car to turn in.

Come in and let us show you how simple the whole thing is.

A Thought for Today

Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies.—Proverbs 31:10.

* * *

There is no worse evil than a bad woman; and nothing has ever been produced better than a good one.—Euripides.

Homes, Habits, Fires

The nation's fire loss has been increasing steadily in the last seven years, with the per capita loss increasing from a prewar $1.95 to $4.01 in 1946. This year the National Fire Protection Association fears that the figure will rise to $5, and the total fire loss throughout the country to $700,000,000.

Those would be disheartening statistics under normal conditions. But with the present housing shortage, they became alarming. With millions seeking more adequate living quarters—or any quarters at all—the destruction of one dwelling by fire amounts to the loss of two.

The destitute family must find a new place to live, thus depriving some other home-seeker, or else join the swollen ranks of the ill-housed. Material and labor must go to replace, instead of increase, the short supply of housing.

Most fires in dwellings can be prevented. And a slight bit of hope may be found in the NFPA statement that the wave of fires always recedes during Fire Prevention Week and for several weeks afterward.

So Fire Prevention Week this year, Oct. 5-11, is a good time to take stock again of homes and habits. For nearly 90 per cent of home fires are caused by bad habits or faulty construction.

The principal heedless habits accounting for preventable fires are these:

Carelessness with matches and smoking—93,000 fires.

Children playing with matches —26,000 fires.

Use and storage of inflammable cleaning fluids—28,000.

Storage of paper, rags, furniture and toys in closets, basements and attics.

These structural hazards are the chief fire breeders:

Defective wiring and misuse of electrical appliances—47,000 fires.

Improperly installed and poorly maintained heating equipment—45,000.

Faulty constructed and dirty chimneys—40,000.

Inflammable roofs—38,000.

These causes of fire may be old stuff to most readers. Nevertheless, they continue to be responsible for a growing amount of property destruction and loss of life. In spite of the general increase in losses, better building material and stricter enforcement of building codes are reducing some of the fires arising from structural defects. Human carelessness remains the chief villain.

Fire Prevention Week is not just another of the many special "weeks" that crowd the calendar. It is an urgent reminder that every American has the responsibility every week of guarding against carelessness that results in death.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—On Aug. 23, 1945, Eleanor the Great betrayed a ridiculous confusion which is now explained, in part, in the memoirs of Ed Flynn entitled "You're the Boss." Mr. Flynn served as chairman of the national committee of the political party which is still a front for more communists than the Communist party itself, and him a good Irish Catholic boy. On that day, in 1945, Eleanor wrote a plug for a book by one of her ruddy friends, Martha Dodd. She does this occasionally. Another who got a leg up from her majesty is Howard Fast, the author of an abandoned eulogy of Drug Tito, the bloody-handed Yugoslavian butcher who killed the five young American fliers who hadn't as much as a rock to throw. Fast recently got three months in prison for refusing to reveal the financial backing of the American communist front called the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee committee, which installed Tito as the Muscovite puppet in Yugoslavia.

In her column of Aug. 23, 1945, Eleanor the Great wrote that "as the daughter of President Dodd, of Princeton, who was our ambassador in Berlin in the days just before the war," Martha Dodd "had a good opportunity to observe the people about whom she writes."

It is a question just how this absurd bull ever got by the desk of the United Features, which handles this line of canned goods, and past the smart people who edit the World-Telegram and other papers which used the copy. Perhaps they helped themselves to the silly assumption that she knew what she was talking about. Or possibly this was a day when, all together, those who were on watch decided to let her make a show of herself. At any rate, this thing ran, uncorrected. There followed a correction which is a true-life version of the old one which winds up "it must have been a couple of other fellows."

It said: "Mrs. Roosevelt, in her column of Aug. 23, referred to Martha Dodd as the daughter of the president of Princeton university and made the comment that her background equipped her to write the book which was published recently.

"Martha Dodd is not the daughter of Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton university, whom Mrs. Roosevelt referred to as the former ambassador to Germany. Martha Dodd is the daughter of William E. Dodd, professor of history at the University of Chicago. Mrs. Roosevelt also said President Dodds served as ambassador to Germany until just before the war broke out. William E. Dodd retired as ambassador to Germany in 1937 (the war broke out in 1939) and was succeeded by Hugh R. Wilson."

Ed Flynn is discussing Franklin D. Roosevelt's characteristic maneuvering to get Royal S. Copeland out of the senate and get Flynn in there in his place. Roosevelt offered Copeland the Berlin embassy and offered the senatorial post to Flynn.

Both were willing, but Al Smith wanted the senate place, so the deal collapsed. The solemn need of a good man in Berlin for the years just ahead was not known to many common citizens. But Roosevelt was president. He had his state department for information. He had heard of this fellow Hitler. It was up to him to send a good man to Berlin.

Either Roosevelt didn't have the sense to appreciate the way of events in Germany and plan toward keeping the United States out of another damned European war, or this was another routine demonstration of his criminal flippancy.

After the scheme failed "there was much scurrying around," to find an ambassador, Flynn writes at this late day, too late by years to save a single life or warn his fellow Americans, "and Howe was given the job of getting a man for ambassador."

This was Louis McHenry Howe, the physically dirty and smelly gnome who preceded Harry Hopkins as the White House Rasputin. He died early in the phatasmagoria.

* * *

"From some source, perhaps out of the mind of Howe," Flynn continues, "there came the name of Professor Dodd Now there were two professors Dodd, both living in Chicago. One was Walter F. Dodd, who had taught at the University of Illinois and at Yale and was then practicing law in Chicago. The other was William E. Dodd, a professor of history at the University of Chicago, who had written a number of books on the history of the south and also on the Wilson period.

I am not sure but that Howe thought that one of them had written a book on Germany. I have always thought that in the rush to get somebody appointed, the wrong Dodd was picked. I know the president had never met William E. Dodd and did not know much about him. In any event this story produced the Washington saying that Ambassador Dodd was the 'telephone book' Dodd."

Harold W. Dodds, the president of Princeton, was born 20 years later than William E. Dodd, who was 64 when he was sent to Germany in 1933 and not only improvised his own foreign policy but ran a nasty little one-man campaign against the nazis in which he tried, with considerable success, to match all their dirty manners with rudeness of his own. As an ambassador he was useless and worse, but the assignment was good for the vanity of the old man. He and his daughter were depicted by their claque of correspondents in the brave act of breathing bold defiance, when the fact was that not a soul in Germany would have dared to throw an egg at either of them. The old man completely thwarted any chance that the United States might have had, even with an amateur juggler for president, to solve any matter and avert war or keep the United States out of it. And, as Flynn suggests, Roosevelt not only hadn't met him but thought he was another Dodd altogether. And 12 years later, Roosevelt's widow, writing, as she often does, about things she knows absolutely nothing about, revealed unwittingly that she didn't even know who the man was that her husband sent to Germany to represent, not him, Roosevelt, but the United States of America.

Deaths

FRANK FLANNERY

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—Frank Flannery, 60, one of the group of doughboys who founded the American Legion in Paris in 1919, collapsed and died last night while attending a Legion post officers' installation.

Flannery, a real estate man, also organized and first commanded the Hyde Park post of the Legion. He was a past commander of the Forty and Eight, Legion affiliate, and the first commander of the Legion's Third Illinois district.

CHARLES BAKER

Charles Baker of Twin Falls, Ida., a former resident of the Dixon community, passed away in Twin Falls Wednesday evening, a message received by his brother, William Baker of route 4, announced. Mr. Baker's death resulted from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. He had many friends in this vicinity who will be grieved by the news of his tragic passing.

MISS MELISSA HERRICK

Officers of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion have been informed of the death of Miss Melissa Herrick, Sunday, September 21, 1947 at the Veteran's hospital in Dayton, Ohio. Miss Herrick formerly lived in Dixon and Nachusa. She was a nurse in World War I and had been a member of the Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion for many years. Funeral services were conducted at the Veterans chapel at Dayton, after which the body was cremated.

Eucharistic Congress Reaches Climax Today

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25—(AP)—The Buffalo Centennial Eucharistic congress today reached its climax—the colorful Eucharistic procession of about 75,000 faithful—with a statement from its patron cardinal that the four-day event was an opportunity for rededication to "warfare against evil totalitarianism."

Francis Cardinal Spellman Archbishop of New York and patron of the congress, said in a statement:

"The principal purpose of the congress was to commemorate the centenary of the Diocese of Buffalo, recalling to the minds and hearts of men that Christ came on earth to redeem mankind and to teach every man the road to eternal happiness through the love of God and practical love of neighbor.

"It gave all who participated an opportunity, an inspiration to renew their faith, reform their lives along spiritual patterns and rededicate themselves to constant warfare against all evils in our modern times, against the evil totalitarianism which threatens to destroy man's dignity and freedom, the current menacing manifestation of which is communism."

Methodist Church More Prosperous Than Ever

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 25—(AP)—American Methodism "is growing richer and richer," a Chicago delegate told the Ecumenical Methodist conference today.

Addressing 500 Methodist leaders from both hemispheres Dr. William Warren Sweet, Chicago university professor of American Christianity, said in a prepared address:

"Never have our churches and colleges and universities been as prosperous, never have endowments mounted so high. There have been more church debts paid off in the past few years than ever before in Methodist history.

Three British Officers Slain in Punjab Riots

New Delhi, India, Sept. 25—(AP)—The director of Pakistan's public relations at Lahore announced today that three British officers of the Indian army were slain in recent incidents in the Punjab, where the communal warfare situation has been reported worsening.

Attacks on refugee trains and motor convoys, moving between the east and west Punjab (Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan), were blamed by an Indian government spokesman last night for the deteriorating situation.

Dixon Legion Post, Auxiliary Install Officers Last Eve

Colorful Ritualistic Ceremony Followed by Happy Social Session

The joint installation of officers of Dixon post No. 12, American Legion and auxiliary, was held last evening at a largely attended meeting at the Legion hall. President Lucille Gorham presided at the meeting as it opened and the regular business was dispensed with and the installation proceeded.

H. F. Walder, 13th district commander installed the Legion officers with Theo. Mason serving as sergeant-at-arms. Commander Walter Knack spoke briefly and the following officers were installed:

Commander—Marian Rees.

Senior vice commanders—Ralph Moore, Harry Slaim and John Reynolds.

Junior vice commander—Martin Tayman.

Finance officer—George Knouse

Adjutant—Richard Arnould.

Chaplain—Rev. C. L. Wagner.

Historian—John Earle.

Judge advocate — Edward A. Jones.

Service officer—Albert Ruggles.

Sergeant-at-arms—Harold Dunseth.

Visiting Legionnaires present were: Jack Griswold, past second division commander, Freeport. Claude Jewitt, junior vice commander, 13th district, Rochelle; Earl Wolf, past Whiteside county commander, Rock Falls; Fred Alexander, past Whiteside county commander, Rock Falls; Claude Mangan, commander, Rock Falls; Roy Long, district chaplain, Amboy; Oscar Russell, department organization officer, Wilmington.

Auxiliary Officers

Officers of the auxiliary who will serve during 1947-48 were installed as follows:

President—Mrs. Dale Flynn.

Senior vice president—Mrs. Viola Risley.

Junior vice president—Mrs Milton Baker; treasurer, Mrs. Wallace Hicks; secretary, Mrs. Iva Callahan; historian, Mrs. Arthur Tofte; chaplain, Mrs. Robert Hess; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Eloise Petit; assistant sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Floyd Smith.

President Lucille Gorham introduced Mrs. Roy Long, 18th district director of Amboy, who installed the auxiliary officers with Mrs. Lester Ommen as acting sergeant-at-arms. Guests were present from Amboy, Paw Paw, Lee Center, Rochelle and Freeport units.

County Council Officers

Officers of Lee County Council were presented by County President Esther Walder and installed by Mrs. Lester Ommen with Mrs. Roy Long serving as acting sergeant-at-arms, as follows:

Mrs. Adelina Shriver, Paw Paw—president.

Mrs. Hazel Bybee, Amboy—vice president.

Mrs. Anna Stevens, Paw Paw—secretary.

Mrs. Grace Maves, Lee Center—treasurer.

Mrs. Lucille Gorham, Dixon—historian.

Mrs. Della Bollman, Lee Center—chaplain.

Mrs. Marcella Rhodes, Compton—sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Esther Walder, Dixon—past president.

Mrs. Charles Bishop cleverly interspersed the musical program of the installation ceremony with personal songs for the following: Katie for Katherine Flynn, new president; Sweet Adeline for Adeline Shriver, new county president; When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day for Lucille Gorham, retiring president. Following the installation refreshments were served from a table decorated with Legion colors and mixed bouquets, the serving committee being: Mrs. Edward Christman, Mrs. Peter Phalen and Mrs. Minnie Miller.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WASHINGTON AS SEEN BY EDSON

Washington, Sept. 25—(NEA)—In an unusual change of policy, the Army has decided it will make public the findings of Maj-Gen. Ira T. Wyche, the inspector general who was sent to Italy to report on Lieut.-Gen. John C. H. Lee after Scripps-Howard Columnist Bob Ruark had exposed GI abuses in Lee's command. Not only that, but the Army's action in either disciplining Lee or whitewashing him will be announced.

Ordinarily, the inspector general's reports are secret documents. They go confidentially to either the secretary of war—now Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall—or the chief of staff—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

What seems to have happened in the Lee case is that his brass has so dirtied up some of the Army's finest linen that the Army can't do anything else than wash out the soiled finery in public.

There is probably no high officer in the Pentagon who believes that the inspector general will deliberately whitewash Lee, even though he is about to be retired from the Army. Wyche is one of America's most respected general officers. He commanded the great 79th Division during the last war. His hobby is the idea of trying to unite all the religions of the world to maintain peace. He was thinking of retiring and devoting his remaining years to that cause when he was made inspector general.

Lee a Religious Man

General Lee is likewise said to be a God-fearing man. One of his Biblical nicknames is based on the fact his initials are J. C. Army officers recall that he once had a chaplain aide whose duty it was to say grace before every meal. Lee and his wife have now offered their services to the Episcopal church, "to work for Christian unity."

But the Army also knows Lee as a somewhat pompous individual. Perhaps the best characterization of him, as given by one who knows him well, is that "he would like to be like Georgie Patton, but just doesn't know how." It will be recalled that the late General Patton once got in trouble for his rough and ready ways with a GI.

On the basis that he really has a heart of gold and loves his men, there is some tendency among general officers to excuse General Lee for most of the abuses charged against him.

They claim he was not responsible for failure to get overcoats to the troops in the Battle of the Bulge. That, it is said, was the result of an Eisenhower-Bradley decision to give ammunition transportation priority over winter clothing, in an effort to end the war by shooting before cold weather set in.

As for Lee's special train, the Army says he had it in England and he had it in France. Why shouldn't he have it in Italy

General Lee was given the Italian command, it is explained, because he was a supply and logistics man and the job was to roll up "the Mediterranean theater. There were unexpected delays on that in connection with writing and ratifying the Italian peace treaty.

Retirement Ordered Previously

But now, General Lee is allowed to fly home in his private plane and retire gracefully, before the Italian job is done. This is in accordance with previous orders, issued before the Ruarke disclosures. It is also an indication that the stage is all set for a good whitewashing.

It is doubtful, however, if the case can be camouflaged and lost sight of that easily. Too much is at stake First, because of the effect on morale of troops now in service. Second, for the effect on recruiting, which is now at dangerously low levels.

If the armed forces are to be built up and maintained at strength considered necessary for national defense, there must be public confidence that the Army, Navy and Air Force are being run well and that the old-fashioned caste system has been kicked out for good.

The $64 question raised by the Lee expose is why one newspaperman was able to bring to light abuses of rank which the Army should have known about, but had done nothing to correct.

That puts the finger on the office of the inspector general, which is supposed to catch these things first and see that they are corrected.

This Is Happy

By [illegible]

THE STORY: When Steve Landers, hard-bitten war correspondent and prophet of doom, expresses dismay at the prospect of a cheerful secretary, Happy Brandon walks out on him, saying: "I'm sure the agency can find you somebody grim and middle-aged and—scared to death of the future." Steve calls at Happy's apartment to try to talk her into the job. But when he admits that he drinks a good deal to "forget," Happy turns him down. Steve puts his head on her arm and Timmy, her cat, bumps at him.

* * *

III

STEVE said coaxingly, "Look, I know I've gone at this all wrong. I'm sorry; I'll grovel at your feet if you'll just forgive me and start all over again. I want to be friends, Happy—and with that yellow-eyed devil in your arms, too, if he'll let me. And if you'll work with me, I'll try to behave myself and not get out of line again. Please, Happy? Pretty please?"

Happy relaxed a little, and nodded.

"I'll try it for a while," she said at last.

"Whoops!" said Steve, and for the first time since she had collided with him that morning she saw an expression of pleasure on his thin face and in his eyes. "You're a sweetheart, Happy. And I'll win Timmy over if I have to spend all my pocket money on diver for the next six months."

Happy's eyes danced a little.

"He'd much rather have shrimp," she said demurely.

"Then shrimp it shall be—tons and tons and tons of them," promised Steve extravagantly. "We'll work here," he decided. "Instead of you coming to the office every morning, I'll come here. I think I can do a better job here than at my place."

Happy looked startled, but Steve was so matter-of-fact that, with some misgivings, she agreed.

* * *

BEFORE the end of the first week, Happy discovered that Steve Landers was quite important. He was tops in his own field and deeply respected by those who had read his bitter, fiery blasts from overseas; his radio contract was for thirteen weeks, and there were magazine commitments, a movie contract for later in the year and the book which was to be about postwar Europe, rather than the war years.

From the first she found that he was difficult to get along with. When the sponsors of his radio program protested about the violence and bitterness of his first programs and insisted on "smoothing them down," she thought Steve would have apoplexy. The battle waged long and loud, and Happy felt as though she herself were bruised and battered. But in the end, swearing furiously, Steve had to allow a little of the "smoothing down" process.

When his first magazine article—rushed into press at the expense of almost remaking an issue that had closed its forms—appeared, Steve was livid with rage because it had been edited. Some of the more "unpleasant things," the editor told him firmly, had had to be eliminated. And Steve came back from a battle royal with the editors to an uneasy Happy who waited for him in the big shadowy room that had become, without Steve's quite realizing it, a haven of peace for him.

He raged, swore, and paced up and down the room, while Timmy, tucked safely out of the way under a chair, eyed him balefully.

"Happy, for the love of God," said Steve at last, and in his tone there was reverence, not blasphemy, "don't the blind, besotted fools know what's coming?"

* * *

AS he went on there was a tormented look in his eyes and Happy knew he was seeing old, ugly scenes, reliving moments that had Hiroshima; I was at Bikini for the bomb tests. We all shuddered with horror at the thought of such devastation, such havoc. But Happy, I can tell you in all soberness, in the deepest, most serious words I could possibly find in my mind, that the atom bomb is child's play compared to some of the stuff that's being dreamed up now by scientists in every nation. What in the name of all that is hopeful can I do to wake people up? To make them realize how time is running out?"

"I don't know, Steve; I don't know," she almost whispered.

Steve looked down at her small, white face and her frightened eyes for a moment, and then he went to her chair and put out his hand and touched the soft, ruddy mass of her hair.

"Poor little Happy. I've done you a dirty trick hiring you to help me frighten a complacent world into realizing its danger, haven't I? Say, isn't some sort of brawl being given somewhere tonight that you and I are supposed to attend?"

"I—yes—your publishers are giving a cocktail party for you, and afterwards, you're supposed to have dinner and address a political meeting."

His face twisted in disgust.

"Skip it," he said sourly. "Climb into your prettiest duds, pet. You and I are off for a tour of the night clubs. After all, why shouldn't we dance gaily on the flower-strewn edge of a precipice, just as all the world is doing? Why should we try to be different?"

"But the cocktail party—" she began.

"Oh, we'll stop in for a few minutes, you conscientious little soul, but the political meeting? Phooey!"

He picked up his overcoat and hat and turned to say, "Climb into your party clothes, Happy, while I go home and shake the moths out of mine. I'll be back for you at seven and we'll gaze upon the wine when it is red—red as—" His mouth twisted a little and there was the old tormented ghost of pain in his eyes for a moment.

He was gone before she could answer.

Marie Rocho Becomes Bride Of Harold Delhotal

Couple Exchange Vows in Baptist Church Ceremony

Baskets of white flowers, white tapers in candelabra ad palms formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Marie Rocho, daughter of Carl E. Rocho of Amboy, and Harold Delhotal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Delhotal of Lee Center, which took place in the Dixon Baptist church the afternoon of Sept. 13 at 3:00 o'clock. The Rev. J. H. Hughes, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the service Mrs. J. H. Hughes played an organ prelude of nuptial selections and accompanied the Rev. Robert Record of Chicago when he sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

French Marquisette Gown

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of candlelight velvet brocaded French marquisette fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, shirred bodice trimmed with velvet flowers, fitted waist and bouffant skirt extending into a court train. The full puffed sleeves narrowed to points over the hands.

The bride's illusion veil with blusher was edged in a double self ruffle and held in place with a scalloped headdress of shirred illusion and orange blossoms. In her semi-colonial bouquet were white gladiolus and white stephanotis centered with a glamellia corsage.

Two Attendants

Miss Erma Borth of Savanna was maid of honor and wore a rose taffeta gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A white Elizabethan headdress trimmed with clusters of white velvet forget-me-nots held her shoulder-length double illusion veil in place and she carried a colonial bouquet of aqua mums.

Aqua satin and chiffon fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves was worn by the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Allice Dennis of Momence. Her white headdress was a halo of white feathers and held a shoulder-length illusion veil in place. In her colonial bouquet were rose mums.

Flower Girl in Aqua

Raymond Rocho of Amboy, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Lester Delhotal, brother of the bridegroom, and Kenneth Rocho of Amboy, brother of the bride.

Shown leaving the Dixon Baptist church following their wedding Sept. 13 are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Delhotal. The bride is the former Miss Marie Rocho, daughter of Carl E. Rocho of Amboy and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Delhotal of Lee Center.

Mary Reynolds of Glen Ellyn was flower girl and wore an aqua taffeta dress with matching headband of aqua ribbon trimmed with yellow rosebuds. She carried a basket of rose petals.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a grape-colored crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Reception at Hotel

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Nachusa Hotel where baskets of white flowers, palms and candelabra weer used for decorations. Taking charge of the bride's book was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Evelyn Delhotal.

The couple, left on a wedding trip to northern Wisconsin and are now residing in their new home east of Lee Center. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece aqua wool crepe dress suit trimmed in black.

Out-of-Town Guests

Mrs. Delhotal was graduated from Amboy high school and atteded Illinois State Normal university in Normal for two years. She will continue her position as secretary at the Northern Illinois Corporation in Dixon. The bridegroom was graduated from Lee Center high school and is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests attended from LaSalle, Milwaukee, Wis., Chicago, Glen Ellyn, Peoria, Savanna, Momence, Freeport, Forreston, Ashton and Mendota.

PLUM HOLLOW WOMEN AWARD PRIZES FOR SEASON AT BANQUET

Plum Hollow woman golfers had their annual end of the season banquet at the club last night. Trophies were awarded to Bernicce Wadsworth, class A; Alice Yeast, class B, and Dorothy Rhodes, class C.

Winner of the July handicap was Larrie Barlow and the runnerup was Minette Menkie. Prizes were given also for 10 birdies and one eagle.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Angie McCrystal, sports chairman; Clara Villiger, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Barlow, handicap chairman.

Young Mothers Hear Dr. Tavenner

Young Mothers club members met last night at the home of Mrs. Omer Thomas. During the business session programs for the year were distributed and a report given on "Prevalent Communicable Diseases Among Children" by the health reporter, Mrs. George Holland.

Mrs. Holland also reminded the group of the annual health check-up for school children. She stated that the examinations should be completed as soon as possible as cards will be picked up by the health nurse, Oct. 1.

Dr. J. L. Tavenner was guest speaker at the meeting and discussed the topic, "Psychology of Child Discipline." He told of the manner in which adults accept laws of health, home and public living which discipline their lives and well being, and explained how these must be started in babyhood and continue through childhood.

Discipline well mixed with tenderness, understanding and an assurance of love, the speaker stated, will develop the baby into a well-behaved and happy child and eventually into a well-rounded and well-adjusted adult.

Following Dr. Tavenner's talk there was a brief social hour and refreshments were served by the hostess committee members. They included Mrs. Archie Brown, Mrs. Charlotte Fries, Mrs. Wilfred Shawger, Mrs. Eugene Goddard and Mrs. Kenneth Helin.

BETROTHED

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Nettz, 316 North Ottawa, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne E. Kendall, to Arnold K. Swan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Swan, 214 Morgan street. The wedding will take place Oct. 11.

Forreston Girl Is Bride of Leander LeFevre, Oregon

Miss Vera Ludwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ludwig of Forreston, became the bride of Leander H. LeFevre, son of Mr. and Mrs. George LeFevre of Oregon, in an afternoon ceremony Tuesday in the Reformed church of Forreston. The Rev. C. H. Bode, pastor, officiated at the double ring service.

Baskets of gladiolus and pink asters were used to decorate the altar.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Doris Maas played a prelude of nuptial music and accompanied the twin cousins of the bridegroom, Miss Eleanor Hummel and Mrs. Elaine Haak, when they sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "At Dawning." "Always" was sung at the conclusion of the service.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white marquisette fashioned with an ivory faille bodice top, sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. With it she wore long lace gloves and a strand of pearls and matching earrings, the gift of the bridegroom. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a headdress of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of red roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Ella Trampel of Freeport was maid of honor and wore a gown of pink marquisette. The bridesmaids, Miss Doris John of Dixon and Miss Irene Floto of Mt. Morris, wore blue gowns. All three attendants carried colonial bouquets.

Walter LeFevre, brother of the bridegroom was best man and George LeFevre, another brother, and Herman Ludwig, cousin of the bride ushered.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ludwig selected a brown gaberdine suit and a corsage of pink gladiolus. The bridegroom's mother wore a green crepe dress and a corsage of the same flowers.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Centering the bridal table was a five-tiered cake, which was served by Mrs. Earl LeFevre of Earlville.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the West after which they will make their home on the Charlie Reed farm, two miles west of Oregon. For traveling the bride wore a blue gaberdine suit with black and white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. LeFevre is a graduate of Forreston high school in the class of 1945 and of the Rockford School of Beauty Culture. The bridegroom was graduated from Oregon high school in 1943 and served one year in the Merchant Marine. He is engaged in farming at present.

Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ioder of Ohio will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28, from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock at their home. They were married Sept. 23, 1897.

The Ioders have one daughter, Mrs. Reuben Winebrenner of Dixon, and three sons, Marvin, Ivan and LeVerne Ioder, all of Ohio.

Denies Red Activities

Eisler told the committee he applied for and obtained membership in the communist party in Germany in 1926 but never was an active member. He said he never paid dues, did not take part in party activities and found that political demands interfered with his musical career.

He acknowledged having written the music for certain songs used by communist organizations, including the "Commintern March" and said he regards Premier Stalin as "one of the great historic personalities of our time."

Eisler made this statement in response to a question whether he had once told immigration officials that he "hated" Stalin. He said he did not recall saying that.

Joseph Savoretti of the immigration service testified later that when Eisler was being questioned at the time he entered this country the composer professed hatred for the Soviet leader and denied having been affiliated in any way with the communist party.

Mrs Roosevelt's Part Told

Mrs Roosevelt's interest in the case was brought out in an exchange of correspondence between her and Welles, then undersecretary of state, early in 1939.

In one which bore the salutation "Dear Sumner," Mrs. Roosevelt suggested that the Eisler case be reopened to give Eisler an opportunity to "defend" himself. She said a 'perfectly honest' friend of the composer's had told her that Eisler was not a communist.

In a later memo, Mrs Roosevelt referred to the case as "a hard nut to crack."

The former first lady told reporters at Lake Success, N. Y., that her correspondence concerning Eisler was routine and that she had simply passed on "for consideration" a name which had been sent to her. She did this in many cases, she said, adding that she did not know Eisler

Welles Explains

Welles, whose replies opened with 'Dear Eleanor,' noted that departmental files indicated Eisler "had been connected in some measure with communistic organizations" but disavowed any prejudice against the musician and his wife.

Taking the stand yesterday, Welles told the committee that had he known at the time what he since had learned, his action in the Eisler case might have been different. He said he was not aware at the time that state department files contained a labor department summary reporting that "the evidence establishes preponderantly that Eisler is a communist."

Benton Quits State Dept. Broadcast Job

Washington, Sept. 25—(AP)—The resignation of William Benton confronted President Truman today with the task of finding a new director for the controversial 'Voice of America' broadcasts to foreign nations.

The White House announced late yesterday that Benton is quitting as assistant secretary of state in charge of information and cultural affairs, including the war-born radio program designed to counter anti-allied propaganda.

Benton whose division's funds were slashed around 10 per cent by the last congress, declared in his letter of resignation that the nation has not yet accepted "the outlay of brains, energy and dollars necessary to sustain the responsibilities of the state department in the field of information."

Benton will become board chairman of Encyclopaedia Britannica, a post he held before entering the state department two years ago.

Electrical Workers Hit Anti-Reds in Resolution

Boston, Sept. 25—(AP)—The international convention of the United Electrical Workers (CIO) yesterday adopted a resolution repudiating an anti-Communist faction led by CIO National Treasurer James B. Carey on a question of investigating alleged "Communist adherents" in the organization.

The resolution urged that the United Electrical Members for Democratic Action be driven "out of leadership, and if they persist in their disruption to drive them out of the union."

No Proof Hirohito Had Part in War Planning

Tokio, Sept 25—(AP)—Chief War Crimes Prosecutor Joseph B Keenan agreed today to publication of a previous off-the-record comment that "thorough investigation convinced the prosecution that no evidence was available to support the charge that the emperor participated in the conspiracy" leading to war in the Pacific.

Keenan indicated this belief earlier today before the international tribunal trying former Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 other former top officials of Japan.

Save Food is Plea

70,000,000 bushels of wheat. Presumably he meant 70,000,000 bushels a year.

The proposal for conserving foods stemmed directly from a recommendation of a committee of cabinet members who have been studying world food programs. This committee is headed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and includes Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Report Is Released

Truman released their report, plus a statement of his own on it and on the Marshall plan.

He said:

"The cabinet (food) committee made it clear x x x that definite steps to conserve in use of food stuffs at home and reduce the feeding of grain to livestock will be essential if we are to make our fullest contribution towards meeting minimum foreign needs and at the same time relieve the upward pressure on prices at home.

Consequently he said he is naming the special citizens food committee headed by Charles Luckman president of Lever Brothers Cambridge, Mass., to lead a conservation campaign.

At one point, he said he could not say how many millions of dollars would be involved in stopgap aid to Europe. He acknowledged that a shortage of dollars in other lands causes a shortage of food and fuel.

Truman also was not willing to go so far as to say that a return to rationing and price controls or to other wartime controls might be necessary to support America's program to combat hunger and communism in Europe.

Decision Is Congress'

Those, he suggested, are matters for congress to determine.

Answering statements of some Republican leaders that they have not been kept informed on world conditions, Truman said he was letting them know as soon as he found out himself. He pointed to a copy of the report on the Marshall plan enclosed in green cardboard folders and tied with red tape, and said it had just arrived this morning.

The chief executive said he is asking special committees he has appointed and various government agencies to look over the Marshall plan information for the benefit of congressional studies.

The 16-nation Paris conference is asking for some $22,100,000,000 of outside help, mostly from the U S in the next four years.

Truman said he also is counting on Latin America to give a hand. He said no conference with Latin American nations has been called but they will be kept informed of developments.

The problem to which the report of the Paris conferences is devoted Truman said in his statement "not only underlies the political and economic well-being of Europe but is also of key importance to a stable peace in the world."

"The people of the United States recognize as do the people of the European nations that the earliest practicable achievement of economic health and consequent political stability in Europe, is of utmost importance for the peace and well being of the world."

The few lawmakers in Washington professed little information about Truman's call for congressional leaders to meet with him on Monday.

White House Silent

The White House, too, was noncommital except to confirm word from Senator Taft (R-Ohio), now on a western tour that the session had been arranged. Taft said at Seattle he understands the president wants to discuss the world food situation as it relates to exports under the Marshall plan for aiding Europe.

Anderson told newsmen the Monday conference had been mentioned at yesterday's cabinet meeting but that he knew no details. The agriculture secretary said there was no talk of a special session of congress to consider stopgap help before the Marshall plan can be put into effect.

Taft and House Speaker Martin (R-Mass), who also is headed west on a speaking tour said they will be unable to attend the conference but Martin has asked Rep Arends (Ill) the Republican whip to represent him.

Republican leader Halleck (Ind) said now he would try to be present. A number of those invited are touring Europe to determine for themselves what conditions are there.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) told a reporter the $29,000,000,000 which the European nations want from America over a four-year period to carry out their own self-help program should be slashed by possibly 30 per cent.

Later in Washington, Marriner S Eccles chairman of the Federal Reserve Board suggested the U S might spend less on its military forces in order to aid foreign democracies.

He told the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks that "it may be we could spend less on military forces if more were spent on maintaining conditions on which democracy and peace depend.

"We can't very well continue to spend as much as we have on both."

In New York, top grades of butter dropped 2¾ cents a pound on the wholesale market with the best grade selling at 77 cents a pound, compared with 86½ cents Sept. 15. Consumer resistance was credited with forcing the decline.

Wholesale egg prices held steady in New York and cotton futures opened 25 to 40 cents a bale higher.

The rally in grain prices followed announcement of Truman's cabinet food committee that about 470,000,000 bushels of all grains would be available for export during the 1947-48 fiscal year.

After an hour of trading, wheat was ½ to 1½ cents higher than yesterday's close with December at $2.67¾. Corn was up ½ to 1¼, December $2.18¼, and oats were ¼ to 5/8 up, December $1.06¾.

NLRB Gives Unions

union had not, as yet, distributed a financial report to its members. The Machinists will do so, officials said today, by publishing the statement in their next monthly magazine in early October.

Meanwhile, however, Denham is refusing to go ahead with any further elections asked by the Machinists' International or its more than 1,000 locals. And he has set Oct 31 as deadline for these and all other unions to fulfill the requirement. The NLRB has about 5,000 cases on its docket.

Top AFL and CIO officers will decide at their conventions two weeks from now whether they will sign the non-communist forms. Denham has interpreted the labor law as meaning all AFL and CIO officers must sign or none of their unions may use the board's machinery.

John L. Lewis Is Obstacle

John L Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers and an AFL vice president, refused to sign and thus blocked a move by members of the AFL executive council to comply.

In accordance with his policy, Lewis has decided to let pending NLRB cases involving his miscellaneous district 50 go by default, its officers disclosed last night. District 50 contains Lewis-organized UMW members outside the coal industry.

The new Denham ruling on financial statements covers a section of the Taft-Hartley Act which says that union members must be furnished with copies of the international union's financial statement and of the local union's fiscal report.

The new NLRB form says the individual distribution requirement is satisfied if the statements are published in union newspapers or magazines regularly distributed to all members.

Most of the big unions have such publications, but most locals do not.

For the unions without publications of general membership circulation, the form suggests the labor organizations (a) mail copies of the financial statement to each member, or (b) post a copy at union headquarters and announce at union meetings that enough copies are available for every member to have one.

Bobtales

By BOB FALLSTROM

Gene Barrowman, a football picker from 'way back, has the honor of initiating our weekly prognostication series today.

With one arm in front of his face to ward off blows and the other arm holding a suitcase, Gene begins with the Iowa-UCLA toughie of tomorrow night.

"Eddie Anderson has the 'sleeper' of the Big Nine and will win a close one. Make it Iowa 20, UCLA 13." OK Gene, but you may have to duck on this one. The Uclans will be out to redeem their honor after that horrific loss to Illinois Jan. 1.

Down at Champaign, Ray Elliot's Illini face off against a supposedly rejuvenated Pittsburgh eleven. Gene doesn't hold much stock in those yarns from the Smoky city as he says: "The Rose Bowl champs still have too much power for Pitt. Illinois 27, Pitt 6."

Continuing with Big Nine teams, Bob Voigts makes his debut as Wildcat skipper before the home folks. Vanderbilt, a southern school, furnishes the opposition. "Graduation riddled the Commodores," Gene figures, "so Northwestern should take this one. N. U. 14, Vanderbilt 0."

Michigan, favored to replace the Illini as Big Nine champs, opens up with Michigan State, now under the tutelage of Clarence "Biggie" Munn. "I'm afraid 'Biggie' will be off to a bad start," says Gene, "because Michigan will be the winner, 39-0."

At this point, the astute Barrowman pulls a hunch out of the sky and names the Washington Huskies as conquerors of Minnesota. "'Pest' Welch has a veteran team and will be too strong for Bernie Bierman's boys," is his line of reasoning. We'll see!

Gene likes Ollie Cline, Ohio State's bruising fullback, to such an extent that he gives the Buckeyes the nod over Missouri. "With Cline back from service the Bucks should win easily, somewhere in the neighborhood of 27-7."

Now for another toughie. It involves Wisconsin and Purdue, two contenders for the loop basement. In sizing up this one, Gene points out: "For the eighth and ninth spot, Wisconsin will win, 13-0."

Barrowman's last fling with midwestern clubs takes him to the Indiana-Nebraska scrap. "The Cornhuskers will be favored," he reflects, "but I'll string along with the 'pore lil' boys'."

Below the Mason-Dixon line two key encounters come up for attention. Most important matches North Carolina and its "Choo-Choo" Justice opposite the Georgia Bulldogs.

"Anything can happen in this league," the puzzled Barrowman shrugs. This game is a tossup." Nevertheless, Gene calls it N. Carolina 20, Georgia 7.

Georgia Tech's Ramblin' Wreck collides with Tennessee in the second stickout southern scramble. When pressed for a quote on the game, Gene tersely replied: "Se above commentes." Then he yielded, however, with the dope that Tech should be on the long end of a 21-7 score.

Myers Royal Blue set off the team fireworks for the season at the Recreation last night, turning in 1116 first game and a 3137 series, which will probably withstand quite a little bombardment . . . Phyllis Carson keeps rolling right along in the Lanes Ladies loop, going into her bowling last night with a 179 average. Phyllis turned in 549 which urged it a pin or two more . . . Bill Loftus was waiting for us this morning to ask if there's any rule to prevent him from trading Walt Klein anchor on his United Cigars for Walt's wife, Helen, after he noticed the scores last night, with Walt rolling 494 at the Recreation and Helen, turning in 564 at the Lanes . . . We take full blame for the Dixon Hatchery 3-game loss to Melvins, for bowling against Hank Chamness, we had several chances to trip him when he was delivering the ball, but didn't, and Hank came up with seven in a row to start that fracas. After seeing nothing would happen to him Ed Worley also started in the fourth frame and piled in seven straight hits for 267, which sent him into the last game with a 480 total, a great chance for 700 but a cherry and two splits held Ed to 184 in his last set . . . There are two proud papas at James Billiards this week. Paul Joynt celebrating a new daughter and Paul James a new boy. Paul Potts' new ball is improving his bowling considerably, now instead of having two bad games a night he only has one, last night a 117 in the second canto.

Church Bowling Plans Continued

Organization of a Dixon Church Bowling league was carried over until Tuesday last night at St Paul's Lutheran church.

Another confab will be held that evening at St. Paul's with all interested churches asked to bring a roster of the projected team or teams.

If 10 teams can be secured bowling is slated to commence Friday, Oct. 2.

Sportsmen of Harmon to Meet

Harmon, Sept. 25—(Special)—A regular meeting of the Harmon Sportsmen's club will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Farmers Grain & Coal Co. office. All members are urged to be present.

TRAPSHOOT TO BE HELD AT AIRPORT THIS EVENING

A trapshoot will be held this evening at the airport. Starting time for the latest in a series of weekly events will be shortly after 5 p. m.

Corn plants transpire about 5,000 pounds of moisture while producing a bushel of grain.

BULLETIN

Cincinnati, Sept. 25—(AP)—Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, said today Leo Durocher's suspension automatically ended with the conclusion of the World Series next month and that Commissioner A. B. Chandler had advised the former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers he was free to negotiate for a job for 1948.

Durocher, earlier confirmed reports that he had asked Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler for clarification of his status in baseball.

Arriving from California to see the World Series, Durocher told newsmen that he made an inquiry but had received no reply.

"I will let you know as soon as I get an answer. Other than that, I do not care to discuss anything about my suspension," Durocher said.

Report Chandler Has Replied to Durocher Appeal

New York, Sept. 25—(AP)—The Leo Durocher case is back in the news today with a report from a source whose identity cannot be disclosed that the former Brooklyn manager has appealed to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler for reinstatement and that Chandler has answered the appeal.

"Any correspondence between the commissioner and Durocher would be unnecessary," Walter Mulbry, secretary-treasurer to the commissioner's office, said last night in Cincinnati. "Durocher's suspension was for the season and the World Series. That will be over in a few days."

Although Durocher formally is not listed on the Dodger active roster, the same source pointed out that it was common baseball procedure for a man suspended "from" a club's list to be reinstated "to" the same list.

Successor Wins Pennant

Burt Shotton, hurriedly named to fill Durocher's job for 1947, has won a pennant and established himself with the Dodger paying customers who set a new National league attendance record of 1,807,586 in the home season completed yesterday.

Shotton and Rickey have refused to discuss 1948 plans but the matter is expected to reach a head after the World Series.

Durocher and his wife, Lorraine Day, were due to arrive in New York by plane this morning from California enroute to the Dodger-Yankee series opening Tuesday.

At Los Angeles, Durocher said, "last winter I said I hoped to manage Brooklyn until the day I died; that still goes."

Dixon Idle Along With the Trojans

Dixon takes a breather from the football whirl tomorrow but most other clubs see action in final tune-ups before league chases begin.

The only unbeaten area club to see action will be Rochelle. Coach Chet Ellis, who watched his seasoned lads trample Dixon 28-0 a week ago, takes on Morrison, a former Rock River Valley conference rival, under the Morrison mazdas.

The Mustangs haven't lost, although a tie mars their record. Rock Falls earned the deadlock but Mt. Carroll fell, 51-0.

Undefeated Mendota, like Dixon, is idle.

Hononegah at Oregon

Oregon's Hawks strive for their first victory by playing host to Hononegah of Rockton. Hononegah measured Mt. Morris 27-7 last Friday while Oregon was playing East Rockford's junior varsity to a 0-0 stalemate.

Mt. Morris, meanwhile, gets a crack at the E-Rab second varsity combination in a game to be played on the Mounder turf.

Amboy, 14-6 losers to Mendota, entertains Mt. Carroll while Polo goes after win No. 1 at Fulton. Polo and Stockton tied 6-6 Sept. 19.

Sterling squares off against Rock Falls on the Rocket gridiron in quest of the inter-city title. Coach Bernie Mitchell's Golden Warriors squeezed past Sterling Community, 12-6, one week ago to gain the first leg of the crown.

Hall vs. Princeton

DeKalb's Barbs, surprise victors over West Aurora, 8-6, are at home against big city Rock Island.

Hall Township and Princeton match wits at Spring Valley with the Redmen attempting to atone for last Friday's 26-13 loss to LaSalle-Peru. This is an NCIC "cross over" contest and does not count in the standings.

Princeton beat Walnut and then turned in a creditable showing at Bloomington, dropping an 18-6 decision.

Coach Steve LaRussa's Walnut eleven travels to Toulon.

Only conference game of the evening—a Little Eight affair—pits Ohio's Bulldogs at Manlius. Ohio lost its first eight-man start 44-0 to Sheffield.

Aledo, at home, goes out to whip Geneseo of the NCIC. Geneseo has a 1-1 slate.

Brews, Colonels in Finale Tonight

Milwaukee, Sept. 25—(AP)—The Louisville Colonels and the Milwaukee Brewers stood knotted at three games each in the American Association playoffs today, with the winner of tonight's finale game scheduled to meet Syracuse of the International league in the Little World Series Saturday.

The Colonels bounced back from Tuesday's 10-inning setback last night and drubbed the Milwaukeeans, 11 to 1, in cold weather which cut the crowd of spectators to a series low of 3,150.

Jim Wilson went all the way for Louisville, holding the Brewers to seven hits and three walks.

Clem Dreisewerd will start tonight's game for Louisville and Glenn Elliott will take the mound for Milwaukee.

FIRST WOMAN GRID COACH NAMED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 25—(AP)—The football game between West Fairview Junior high school and Enola reserves tomorrow will be watched with far more than the normal amount of interest.

West Fairview now is being coached by Mrs. Ruth Freetwell, biology and science instructor on the all-woman faculty at the suburban school.

Dodgers Polish Up Gregg for Yankees

(By The Associated Press)

The 1947 World Series may go down in the books as the "battle of the bullpens" but it hasn't looked that way in the final tuneups of the Brooklyn and New York starters.

Not to be outdone by the Yankees who daily parade a new mound gem, the Dodgers' staff has been showing great form in recent efforts of Joe Hatten and Hal Gregg.

Gregg, who may be the darkhorse of the series, warmed up for series duty yesterday by shutting out the home run-happy New York Giants with one hit over a five-inning stretch. It mattered little that Rookie Willard Ramsdell who came in after Gregg was lifted for a pinchhitter blew a comfy lead and the ball game, 6-5. Gregg had looked fine in his turn.

The day before it was Hatten, the lefty who has specialized in beating second division clubs, going five innings at a three-hit pace.

Branca, Lombardi Tonight

Ralph Branca and Vic Lombardi, who figure ahead of Gregg and Hatten in Manager Burt Shotton's scheme of things, get their final dress rehearsals tonight. Lombardi is slated to work three innings in the completion of the unfinished game of Aug. 17 and Branca is slated to go at least five in the regularly scheduled game with the Phillies. It probably will be their last work before the opener Tuesday.

Freshman Harry Taylor, whose August sore arm threw a tremendous burden on the rest of the staff, is itching for action. He was in the bullpen briefly yesterday and may get a brief relief shot in the remaining games if he tells Shotton he's fit.

Hugh Casey has not been in a ball game since Sept. 12. He reported a sore arm and has been sidelined ever since. Shotton may have to trust the bullpen chores to Hank Behrman and Clyde King.

Feller Wins No. 20

Cincinnati, picked to scramble for the cellar with the Phillies, clinched fifth place, a fine tribute to freshman Manager Johnny Neun. The Reds had to go hard to make it, shading Chicago, 6-5, on a ninth inning home run by Grady Hatton.

George Munger hurled his second straight three-hitter for his 16th win, a 5-1 edge for St. Louis over Pittsburgh, practically wrapping up second place for the Cardinals.

Bobby Feller finally became the first American league pitcher to win 20 games, subduing the St. Louis Browns, 9-1. Cleveland routed Ellis Kinder in a four-run fifth inning attack.

Detroit stretched its second place margin over Boston to a full game by nosing out Chicago, 5-4, in 10 innings before a small night turnout of 2,086 persons at Comiskey park.

DIXIE SERIES TO PAIR HOUSTON BUFFS, MOBILE

Houston, Tex., Sept. 25—(AP)—Houston, champion of the Texas league, and Mobile, Southern Association titlist, square off here tomorrow in the opening game of the Dixie series.

The Buffs won the Texas league crown last night by blanking Dallas, 1-0.

The first two games of the seven-tilt Dixie series will be played here with the next three at Mobile. If the final two games are needed they will be played here.

TB Group Ready for 41st Christmas Seal Sales Drive

The headline under which the Lee County Tuberculosis association fires the opening gun of the 41st annual Christmas Seal campaign in the United States has especial significance because it also marks the resumption of the organized fight against tuberculosis in all parts of the world, after a dormant period in certain European countries.

A meeting has been held in Paris of the Council of the International Union against Tuberculosis—the world-wide body that has brought together TB fighters from all countries.

More than any other factor, the Christmas Seal has been the medium for unifying the effort and demands of people that tuberculosis be fought to a finish. No civilized country lacks the knowledge to knock out tuberculosis, although many countries in other parts of the world lack the trained personnel and equipment needed to put the knowledge into action.

It is going to require close to $20,000,000 in this year's Christmas Seal sale to finance the work of the affiliated tuberculosis associations fighting under the red double-barred cross. Organized forces, combined to fight shoulder to shoulder, can win. On every hand we have the best of evidence that the public wants to furnish the dollars that it takes to support our work. People in all walks of life, the world over, all believe in us.

In this 41st Christmas Seal sale in the United States we cannot lag in the supreme effort necessary to make Christmas Seals live up to their reputation for getting things done. As one of our old time humorists said of the postage stamps, "they stick to it."

Detroiters Moved by Plight of Boy

Detroit, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Ten-year-old Tommy Barton may lose most of his sight, but kind-hearted Detroiters made sure today that he would not have to be without the music he loves.

For months Tommy, whose left eye was blighted by glaucoma, has studied music at school, and practiced on a piano belonging to his neighbor. Recently the youngster went to Receiving Hospital to have the eye removed.

It was while he was hospitalized that the neighbor moved away, and Tommy's mother, Katherine, said yesterday she "didn't have the heart" to tell her son that there would be no piano for his practicing when he returned home.

But Mrs. Rudolph Gross, along with countless Detroiters, read of Tommy's plight, and offered the Barton family her upright piano because she and her husband and six children "felt he might find happiness playing by himself."

Mrs. Barton reported too, that "hundreds of other people called with offers of pianos or asking if they could help."

Tommy had a shy "thank you, ma'am," for Mrs. Gross before getting ready to return to school and practicing.

Many residents of Lisbon believe they are descendants of the ancient Phoenicians.

Minister Helps Battle HCL

The Rev. Dr. A. Boylan Fitz-Gerald, right, didn't like the high cost of living and decided to do something about it. So he opened a church family market in his parsonage garage in South Orange, N. J., where his parishioners buy produce, often at 50 per cent below retail cost. Needless to say, business is booming.

Surprise and Some Skepticism Greet Jap's Crop Report

(By The Associated Press)

A report from Tokyo of huge crop yields in radioactive soil at Nagasaki brought expressions of surprise and some skepticism today from American atomic scientists.

Increases of from 50 to 300 per cent over the normal yield were reported in Kyodo news agency by Takeo Furuno, Japanese agricultural expert, who is conducting experiments in the center of the blast zone just outside atom-bombed Nagasaki city.

In Chicago Dr. Austin M. Brues called the report "interesting" and said "anything is posible." He added that he was acquainted with Furuno and considered him a competent agriculturist. Dr. Brues, a University of Chicago atomic scientist, visited Nagasaki last winter.

Dr. George Camov, a Washington, D. C., scientist, said that normally radioactivity would hinder rather than help the growth of crops and added that the Nagasaki report "looks very strange."

Dr. Stafford L. Warren, dean of the medical school at the University of California at Los Angeles, said he did not believe there was enough radioactivity anywhere in the bombed areas to account "for the bumper crops reported from Japan."

(Furuno reported the wheat crop was about twice normal and the cotton crop three times average. He said pumpkins, sugar beets, tomatoes and similar produce showed a 50 per cent increase over previous production and that some freak development in the plants was noted).

"It would be easier to explain the increases on local weather conditions, planting in burned off areas, or that the ground had rested for some time and recovered a good deal of its fertility," Dr. Warren said.

There were 100 high schools in the United States in 1860 compared with 29,000 in 1940.

About 61 million cords of wood are used annually for fuel in the United States.

Parole Probe Gets Under Way Today

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—More than a dozen witnesses were summoned to testify today as a congressional subcommittee started an investigation into the paroles from federal prison of four one time members of Al Capone's gang.

The four Chicago men, Paul Ricca, Philip D'Andrea, Charles Gioe and Louis Campagna, were released from federal prison Aug. 14 after serving the minimum three years and four months of 10 year sentences. They were convicted in New York in 1944 on charges of conspiring to extort more than $1,000,000 from the motion picture industry.

After their release, Representatives Fred Busbey and Ralph Church, Illinois Republicans, demanded an investigation.

Busbey, a member of the subcommittee, said he has made repeated demands that the department of justice disclose circumstances which led the federal parole board to release the four men.

Ricca, D'Andrea, Gioe and Campagna were summoned by parole board representatives to appear at the opening session today.

Also on the subcommittee's roll of witnesses were the names of 36 persons who were listed as having made representations to the parole board on behalf of the four Chicagoans. Busbey said the subcommittee planned to call all members of the parole board.

The four former Capone associates, termed public enemies by Police Commissioner John Pendergast at their trial, were accused of conspiring to interfere with transportation and commerce by coercion and violence through a threat to "close every movie theater in the United States."

Mother, Former Inmate of Mental Institution, Drowns Babe in Bathtub

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—Mrs. Ann Brunn, 29-year-old mother of three children, Police Capt. John T. O'Malley said, drowned her baby son in seven inches of water in a bathtub in her home yesterday because "I could not take care of him."

O'Malley said that Mrs. Brunn told him that after drowning her seven-months-old baby, Robert, she later drank a glass of washing bleach and called police. Police and firemen who found the baby in the tub of lukewarm water were unable to revive him. Firemen administered an antidote to Mrs. Brunn and police ordered her held for questioning today.

O'Malley said her husband, Joseph, 44, a maintenance man, was not at home and their two other children, Laura, 12, and Jane, 10, were at school. He said that Mrs. Brunn had been an inmate of a state mental hospital 10 years ago.

The noise of beetles, produced by scraping one part of the body against another, is believed to be a mating call.

LUTHERAN RELIEF REPORT

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—Lutheran World Relief, Inc., agency for eight church bodies participating in the National Lutheran Council, announced today it had shipped 5,325,111 pounds of relief supplies to 12 countries during the last 21 months.

Poland Hopes to Produce Movies To Ship to World

One Movie Company is State-Owned; Make 4 Films in '47

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Lodz, Poland—(AP) —A fat comedian got tipsy and couldn't play his scene. A blonde ingenue fell in love and wouldn't wait to marry. A director ran over his shooting budget by 200 per cent and the producer tore his hair in a frenzy.

It sounds like Hollywood chatter. But it's right from the horse's mouth at Polski film studio.

Poland has one movie company. This is it, state-owned but interested in making money if possible, and still vulnerable, despite socialism, to the trials and tribulations of celluloid art.

Produce Four Pictures

It is producing four 90-minute features this year to entertain 24,000,000 Poles and it hopes one or two may also please foreigners with currency harder than zlotys.

Its cameramen sigh when they think of the 1,001 costly gadgets that they can't afford but which make a Hollywood super-special so irridescent. Its stars dream of Broadway premieres, mink coats and chromium penthouses but they haven't an American visa.

However, the Polish cinema pioneers show a lot of enthusiasm for their work. The Germans, during the 1939-1945 occupation, had made it verboten. Now it's more attractive than digging coal in Silesia or shoveling rubble in Warsaw, although it has hardships, too.

There are only two sound stages in Poland, both in a former gymnasium here. Housewives and young students of Lodz, otherwise unemployed, crowd the extras' bench for 500 zlotys (official rate, 5 dollars) a day.

Salaries Are Ordinary

As far as Communist propaganda goes, the Polish film industry seems to be spared it. This year's pictures include "Steel Hearts," a story of daring sabotage by Polish slave workers in a German steel mill.

Polish film salaries are nothing to excite a tax collector. Irena Laskowska and other beauties, such as 19-year-old Zofia Perczyieska and 16-year-old Maria Broniewska, while having leading roles, are still classed by the actors' union as novices. They may earn as much as 75,000 zlotys for a picture that takes four months to make. Officially, that's the equivalent of 750 dollars.

But what with the post-war inflation, 75,000 zoltys will hardly buy more than a pair of high-heeled slippers, an afternoon frock, and a few glasses of piwo (we call it beer).

Zofia adds to her income by working nights as well as days. She is a member of a Lodz theatrical company.

Maria, although only 16, is a real oldtimer before the kleigs. She played wee tots in 1938. When the war came, she continued to study acting in an "underground" school which held classes in defiance of German orders.

Reagan at Eureka Festival Tomorrow

Eureka, Ill., Sept. 25—(AP)—About 10,000 pumpkin pies will be given away and two college football teams will engage in a "Pumpkin Bowl" game at Eureka's annual Pumpkin festival tomorrow and Saturday.

Eureka claims world leadership in the canning of fancy pumpkin. Officials estimate that more than 1,500,000 pumpkins are packed here annually.

Other events of the two-day program will include several pie-eating contests—pumpkin, of course; and a parade of floats Saturday afternoon.

Inaugurating the festival Friday night will be the "Pumpkin Bowl" football game between Eureka college and the Kirkville, Mo., State Teachers college.

Governor Green will lead the marching band of Illinois State Normal university onto the field. Movie Actor Ronald Reagan, a Eureka graduate, will crown Miss Joan Snyder of Eureka as "Pumpkin Queen".

The big event — distribution of about 10,000 free pumpkin pies — will be Saturday afternoon. The parade preceding this event will include more than 250 entries and 15 bands. A parade of winning floats, free entertainment, and the pumpkin festival dance will be held Saturday night.

Gov. Green Would Cut Gifts Abroad and Federal Levy

Inflation must be checked by cutting federal taxes and gifts of scarce American goods abroad, Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois told the joint convention of the International Association of Casualty and Surety agents in Swampscott, Mass.

"Despite loose talk about the unlimited resources of America, it is time to come to grips with the fact that one-tenth of the world's population now carries two-thirds of the world's debt, Gov. Green said.

Urges Realistic View

"Is anybody studying carefully how much we can afford to give to Europe at this time?" Green asked. "Congress and the American people need to take a realistic view of the situation. They need to consider how many farm tractors and other tools of production we can spare for men and nations, who have neither the strength nor the will to use them.

"We need to face the fact that the spark which will rekindle the peoples of Europe in their hour of desperation canot be supplied by American largesse, but must be found in the courage and fires of their own souls. Until there is a rebirth of the will to work in Europe, the export of American materials of production will not stop the spread of communism, but only provide more movable booty for communist invaders to carry off."

Duty to Shareholders

Government can learn from the insurance business that its first duty is to its shareholders—the American people, Green asserted.

"The constant clamor about America's obligation to the world tends to divert attention—perhaps is intended to divert attention — from the obligations of America to our own citizens," he said.

"Yes, the world is at our doorstep—with its hat in hand. Tho few Americans ever turn away the stranger at the doorstep, prudent Americans see first that there is enough of their own. And wise Americans learned a long time ago that they could not afford to feed the hungry who were not hungry enough to take their turn at the wood pile."

Immediate reduction of federal taxes would be another blow at the widening spiral of inflation which threatens Americans, Green said.

Cut Production Costs

"A reduction in corporate income taxes will effectively reduce costs of production all along the line, from basic materials to consumer goods," he said. "A reduction in personal income taxes will help the consumer to survive in which his current expenditures for necessities have jumped from 71 to 93 per cent of his income, and threatens to hit the saturation point.

"In speaking of tax reduction, I am dealing in facts—not politics. It is time for the politicians, who opposed reduction in income taxes because they said the continuance of high taxes was necessary to check inflation, to behold the inflation which their policy has produced."

Illinois Bell Seeks to Boost Revenue

Chicago, Sept. 25—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission is considering a petition filed yesterday by the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., seeking a rate boost which would increase the company's revenues $9,500.00 a year.

The purpose of the increase, a company statement said, was to "offset wage boosts of more than $9,000,000 granted employes to end the telephone strike last spring".

The new proposal "takes into consideration other increased expenses which have occurred since the company filed its original rate increase petition with the commission Dec. 3, 1946," the statement added.

The commission granted the company a temporary rate increase averaging 14 per cent on July 29. The new petition alleged the company's rate of expense has continued to increase faster than the rate of income.

No specific rates were filed with the petition. Attorneys said a schedule was in preparation and would be submitted later.

Trend Toward Two Worlds Continues in Big Power Shuffling

Democratic Group for Peace Work Without Hindering Russ

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Just as the democracies in the United Nations finally have cracked down on the tendentious obstructions of the Soviet bloc and are going ahead on their own with the business of making peace, so there is developing a similar tendency in the politico-economic war zones of Europe and Asia.

A prime example is the case of Germany, which is divided into four zones of occupation—Russian, British, French and American. All efforts at drafting a German peace treaty having failed because of the split between the Russian and western blocs, and the Soviet union having refused economic co-operation to ease the chaos in the stricken country. The other three allies show marked signs of consolidating their areas and doing the job without wasting time in further futile negotiations.

Hastened by Crisis

This trend is being hastened by the rapidly increasing gravity of the economic crisis. U. S. Senator H. Alexander Smith, New Jersey Republican, who is co-chairman of a joint American congressional committee studying European economic and political problems, stated yesterday in Berlin that it is "vitally necessary that at least the three western zones of Germany are tied into the Marshall plan."

The senator said it would be desirable to include all Germany in the plan, "but the Russians won't have it and we can't wait around for the chance of Germany's economic unification."

Apropos of this situation, a recent report turned out by U. S. congressional and state department cooperation and originally secret, says that the Russians are the "principal obstructionists" in the allied control council in Berlin and that eastern Germany (under Russian control) is "well on the way to being Sovietized."

This coincides with the general belief among western observers that the Soviet occupied part of Germany already is to all intents a Russian dominion and that Moscow is maneuvering for further western expansion.

The economic pressure has given a fillip to the trend toward a merger of the American, British and French zones into a unified nation. However, the French apparently are not yet ready for a complete merger, but will await development of the Marshall plan for rehabilitation before casting the die. France is fearful that Germany may become strong enough to undertake military aggression again, but on that point both America and Britain are agreed that never again shall the Fatherland be in position to start another war.

Cartoon Shows Ike Waving Atom Bomb

Moscow, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A carton in Izvestia today depicted Gen. Eisenhower as having an atomic bomb and shouting through a megaphone labeled "Daily Hearst" that "the U. S. S. R. is going to attack America."

Class of 170 Receives Masons 33rd Degree

Cincinnati, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A class of 170 members received the honorary 33rd degree in an elaborate ceremony which highlighted the 135th meeting of the supreme council of the northern jurisdiction 33rd degree Masons, ancient and accepted Scottish Rite, here yesterday.

Among Illinois men honored were Robert F. Miller, Jesse C. Nichols, Jr., and Stephen P. Knowles, of Belleville; Carl P. Slane, Hilbert B. Hoodge and Frank N. Nichol, Peoria; Clint D. Sandusky, Danville; Edward E. Core, Springfield; Walter J. Colton and Sylvester C. Hibbens, Bloomington; Wilbur F. Tyler, Prophetstown; George A. Martin, Rock Island; Graydon V. Powell, Freeport; John T. Ingraham, and Albert O. Howd, Quincy.

The council meeting, which brought 1,800 persons to Cincinnati, will conclude at noon today after a business session and the traditional "chain of union" ceremony.

YOU BE THE JUDGE!
At National You Can Select the Quality Beef That Meets Your Purse and Taste
At National you have the selection of economically priced U. S. Government graded and stamped "Commercial Beef" or U. S. Government stamped "Good" and "Choice" grades.
WE SUGGEST you buy U. S. Government graded and stamped "Commercial Beef"—Because it is 15c to 30c a pound lower in price. It is young beef—tender beef—flavorful beef—less wasteful beef and has the same food value as U. S. Good and Choice grades. To bring out the full flavor and goodness, cook it slower and a bit longer.

Boyle Harried by Small Boy on An Information Jag

Volcanic Quiz Program Leaves AP Writer Bewildered

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—The information jags that modern children go on leave me feeling like a 1742 almanac with most the pages missing.

I was sitting in a room the other day when a small boy came in and began playing on the floor. After he felt he had ignored me for the proper length of time he looked up and said, confidentially:

"Parachutin's crazy in the head."

"That so?" I asked, far at sea.

"Yep, she blew her top in a cornfield."

"Well, I don't think I would play with her any more in that case."

"How can I play with her?" he said scornfully. "She's in Mexico."

"But—" I began tentatively.

Vesuvius Meanest of All

"And anyway I hate her," he said decisively. "But I have Vesuvius worse. She's the meanest of all. She kills people."

The idea began to percolate through my skull that we were discussing volcanoes.

"I hate old Mauna Loa, too," the small boy went on. "When did she blow her top the last time?"

"I don't remember."

"Is she as tall as that old one in Iceland?"

"You mean Pop-Popocatepetl?" I said lamely, digging deep into my memory of grade school geography.

"She's in Mexico," he said looking at me suspiciously. "I mean the one in Iceland—Hecla. How tall is she?"

"I don't believe I remember exactly—I guess about as tall as Etna."

Now to Krakatoa

"Oh, no she isn't," he said accusingly. "Etna's more than 10,000 feet tall Why don't the people who live on Vesuvius move away? Don't they know the lava will burn them up?"

"Well—"

"How thick is the lava anyway?"

"You mean how deep is it?"

"No, I don't mean how deep it is. How thick is it?"

"I guess that depends."

"What does it depend on?"

"On how thick it is!" I said wildly.

"Oh," he said, fully satisfied. "Tell me about Krakatoa."

"Wouldn't you rather hear about Jack and the beanstalk?"

"No, tell me about old Krakatoa."

"M-m-m-m. Well—"

Just a Passing Interest

"You know, she's the one in the Pacific ocean," he said. "She blew her top 17 miles in the air, and the ashes went all around the world."

"M-m-m-. Yes, that's right. I believe that was old Krakatoa."

He looked at me with the age old disillusion of children toward adults who don't know the answers and pretend they do.

I was losing face so rapidly I broke up the conversation by asking the small boy to go fetch his father. As he reached the door I asked:

"Why are you so interested in volcanoes?"

"You shouldn't call them volcanoes," he said pityingly. "Volcanoes isn't a nice word at all. They are just mountains that get excited."

Still chilled by that exit line, I demanded of the father later:

"Why don't you buy some books for that boy so he won't have to third-degree innocent strangers for his answers?"

"What would you suggest for a starter?" said the father. "The New York public library? You know volcanoes are just a passing hobby with him. His real interest is the thermal dynamics of airplane engines."

WINS ON THREE SHOES

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—The loss of a shoe failed to stop King Ranch's Dispose in the 1941 Flamingo at Hialeah. The 3-year-old horse won the race after throwing his shoe on the clubhouse turn.

Aviation Fuel to Be Less Than Need

Washington, Sept. 25—(AP)—Col. G. H. Vogel of the Army-Navy Petroleum Board declares it "looks almost impossible" for the armed services to obtain as much aviation fuel as they need during the first six months of 1948.

Vogel, executive officer of the board, said the members expect to call a conference soon with committees representing the petroleum industry.

He told a reporter there seems little hope, however, of meeting full military requirements and that the services may have to accept gasoline of lower octane rating than they would like to have.

The Army and Navy have been able to contract for enough fuel to carry them through the rest of 1947, Vogel added, although stocks are still so low that there are restrictions even on more flying regarded as essential.

Vogel said other petroleum products—Diesel fuel, motor gasoline and a number of special fuels—also are scarce.

The scarcity of products other than aviation gasoline was highlighted yesterday by Secretary of Interior Krug, who said that unless producers supply the services with all they can spare "an emergency will develop".

In a letter to 52 producers—including all those with a rated daily crude capacity of 10,000 barrels a day or more — Krug called for larger quantities of gasoline, kerosene, distillate fuel oils and residual fuel oils.

U. S. Cash Alone Won't Save Europe: Martin

Milwaukee, Sept. 25—(AP)—Nations seeking economic aid from the United States, says Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) should show "an ever increasing dependence upon their own ingenuity, their own resources and their own production."

"American dollars alone cannot do the job," the speaker of the house of representatives told a Wisconsin Republican rally at the auditorium last night. "The dollars must be properly distributed and administered. Too much money already has been wasted and diverted from the real job of rehabilitating Europe and making it self dependent."

Martin said congress should make the decision on the aid, and also said the next congress would be called upon to enact legislation relating to taxes, prices and housing.

Shipment of freight on U. S. railroads cost less than a cent a ton mile, on the average, in 1945, a reduction of 25 per cent from 1921.

About 50 million acres in the western part of the United States are highly fertile, but cannot produce crops because of lack of water.

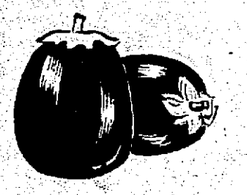

For the best produce there is—Sunny-flavored appetite awakening fruits and vegetables as fresh as a September morn'—come fill your basket at PLOWMAN'S. The produce arrives bright and early each day and is placed on sale immediately. That's why you're certain of getting better tasting vegetables here . . . because they're picked at flavor peak to bring break o' day freshness to your table.

ZOOS COOPERATE

Moscow — (AP) — Last spring Moscow Zoo received a gift from the London Zoo of two Australian kangaroos. In return the Muscovites sent to the British capital a gift of valuable reptiles.

Now the London Zoo has sent six South American snakes, two young African pythons, two mother-of-pearl lizards, blunt-nosed crocodiles, and Mississippi alligators.

The mother-of-pearl lizards are getting plenty of attention. In nature these animals, according to Evening Moscow, feed on sweet berries. In Moscow Zoo they live on apple jam.

Soviet Coal Miners Awarded Cradle-to Death-Bed Security

Moscow, Sept. 25—(AP)—The government has announced a cradle-to-grave social security program for Russian coal miners.

The government also announced the introduction of a system of rank and insignia for engineering and technical staffs of the coal mines.

The underground workers and supervisory personnel of the Soviet coal industry now are covered by a comprehensive system of pensions, sick pay, seniority pay and bonuses. Miners' families were included in the security system.

The Russian miners, who formerly were covered by the general program of social security, now will get special benefits such as these under the newly announced program:

When a miner becomes ill, he will get full pay.

Pensions are provided for invalids and for miners' survivors.

Miners may retire after 20 years of work or at the age of 50, on half pay.

Payments Devised

A miner who has worked underground or in management for more than 15 years will receive 30 per cent over and above his regular pay. A worker who is over 50 years old with 20 years of service in the mines is eligible to receive his base pay plus benefits amounting to 80 per cent of his pay if he wishes to continue working.

A miner who retires after 25 years of service is guaranteed a house with a garden as his private property, his old age pension, and free medical help for himself and his family.

Soviet miners previously had been singled out for special rations and high wages.

Soviet coal production many months ago exceeded the pre-war level and has since been pushed to new heights, according to official reports.

The air is composed of 78.03 per cent nitrogen, 20.99 per cent oxygen and other gases totalling less than one per cent.
